MAD DOG RAN AMUCK

Two Men and Many Animals Bitten

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The St. Bernard dog which terrorized Quincy, Dorchester, Ashmont and Milton yesterday bit two men, two cows, two dogs and a horse before being run down and shot. The dog had been at large for 12 hours. The police are now attempting to discover just how much damage he did.

Examination of the dog was made by Dr. Francis Abbe, Jr., the Quincy city veterinarian. The dog was shot by Policeman Farrell of the Quincy force.

The men bitten are Christopher Kenner, a Boston city employee living at 47 Beane avenue, Ashmont, and David A. Spier, a street car conductor. Spier was nearly dragged from the running board of his car in Mattapan by the animal's attack.

With huge mouth, red and foaming, the dog snapped and attacked men and animals in his path from Mattapan through Ashmont, Dorchester, Milton and Quincy. All the day and into the evening police from each of these sections warned residents against the peril and censored in all manner of conveyances through the streets in an effort to halt the canine.

The chase after the animal was most spectacular. Not until last night was the hunt successful. Then seven policemen of the Quincy force caught up with the beast in the auto patrol, and with a rifle Policeman Farrell shot him. The dog had been at large for 12 hours. The police are now attempting to discover just how much damage he did.

AUTOS IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Seven Injured on the Revere Boulevard

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—In a terrible head-on crash between two automobiles on Revere boulevard, near the Fellway, Medford, last evening, seven people were hurt. Two of them are perhaps fatally injured. All concerned were taken to the Malden hospital.

The two worst injured are Mary Keefe, 32, of 17 Ellsworth avenue, Cambridge, and Bertha Pelletier, 114 Andrus street, Cambridge. They had several stitches taken in their wounds and besides are in a highly hysterical condition.

Patrick J. Cummings, 231 Parsons street, Brighton, driver of one of the cars, is suffering from internal injuries. The other victims were slightly injured.

WOMAN SHOT HER FRIEND

Mrs. Frost Is Placed Under Arrest

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—On a warrant charging her with assault with intent to murder, Mrs. Alice Brigham Frost, 25 years of age, the Somerville woman who shot herself in the left breast on the afternoon of July 5 last, after she had shot a friend, Arthur T. Holt, was placed under arrest by Lieut. Carter, Inspector Kennedy of the city police.

The warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Frost was sworn out by Chief of Police Kendall of Somerville. The woman gave her occupation as a dressmaker. She will in all probability be arraigned in the Somerville court today.

METHOD TRAGEDY

Saturday night marked the fifth anniversary of the murder of the two Methuen policemen who went up toward the Pest Meadow on a camping party and were later found murdered in some bushes there. Up to this day the murderers have not been located.

The policemen were Charles Thompson and Frank McDermott. The bodies lay in the west part of the forest. The officers went there late at night and the next morning they found the bodies of their dead bodies. They had been shot through the head with lead and slanted bullets.

BABAISTS WIN FIGHT

Lie Passed—Court Action Threatened

ELIOT, Nov. Aug. 12.—Turbulence featured by the passing of the lie, by minor exchange of personalities in which exquisitely clad and jewel-bedecked women vied with men prominently known in professional and business life, and by charges of "standards" and "injustice" ended last night after nine hours' duration in the room of the anti-Bahaist faction by Abdul Baha's followers in the annual election meeting at "Greenacre," Miss Sarah J. Farber's "free thought" colony.

When after an all day conflict, a committee composed entirely of Bahaists brought in a drastic set of by-laws that were adopted despite a stormy protest, the anti-Bahaists withdrew in a body.

The declared an intention of appealing to the courts to have the "high-handed" proceeding annulled. But their determination, expressed in a mighty though discordant chorus of voices, need not their opponents.

Nine trustees were elected following the departure of the anti-Bahaists. They will endeavor to assume control of the Green Acre properties and to direct the expenditure of Mrs. Helen Cole's $12,000 legacy for a building which the anti-Bahaist faction is planning to build. This attempt will be the basis of a request for a court injunction.

Strife held away from the moment the rival hosts formally opened their session until the anti-Bahaists retreated from the impromptu battlefield.

Doggedly and vehemently the anti-Bahaists fought the policies of the Bahaists. But they were beaten from the moment the first gun was fired.

Girl Crushed Beneath the Machine

BRETON WOODS, N. H., Aug. 12.—An automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Smith, their daughter, and a Mrs. Van Heyniger, all of Mobile, Ala., got beyond control and went into a ditch on the road between Bethlehem and the Twin Mountain House yesterday, where it overturned.

Miss Smith was crushed beneath the car, sustaining internal injuries which, it is feared, may cause her death. The other members of the party escaped with a severe shaking up.

DUTIES OF LOBBYIST MULHALL

Defined to Senate Committee by James A. Emery of National Association of Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—James A. Emery, chief representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, here, defined to the senate committee today the duties of Mulhall, who claimed to be that association's lobbyist.

"Mulhall kept me supplied with copies of bills and public documents in relation to the work here and got information of the status of legislation in which we were interested. In this work he gathered information and learned the views of members of congress. He made inquiries about hearings and requested an opportunity for me to appear," said Emery.

Emery denied that Henry Neal and Harry Parker, two negro employees at the capitol, were in the pay of the manufacturers. Mulhall swore that for almost a year Emery gave each month a $100 check, of which $50 was to go to I. H. McMichael, one-time chief page of the house, and $50 went to Parker and Neal. Emery denied he ever drew such a check. He declared Mulhall told him he had a friend at the capitol who could get the public documents and bills. Later

PARAGUAY ACCEPTS BRYAN'S PEACE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Paraguay, through Minister Hector Valezques, today accepted in principle Secretary Bryan's peace plan. Thirty-nine nations were to consider the proposal and 28 have accepted it in principle. One treaty actually has been signed. It is with Salvador.

Emery learned the friend was McMichael. Emery testified, however, that he did draw a check for $50, sent it to Mulhall and told him to divide it between Neal and Parker, "merely to pay for the many courtesies they performed for our members."

"Did you ever make any payments to Mulhall for McMichael?" asked Attorney McCarter for the manufacturers.

"Yes," said the witness. "It never amounted to $50 and it terminated when I left for Europe in 1910."

"Too absurd to contemplate," said Emery when McCarter asked him about the secret room in the capitol that Mulhall swore was furnished to the association by Congressman McDermott of Illinois.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Dept. of Agriculture Asked to Investigate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Co-operation in marketing with a view to lessening the high cost of living seems to have taken such a hold on the people of the United States that the department of agriculture is being inundated with requests from such co-operative organizations for an investigation of their individual merits. So great has the pressure become that the department announced today it would not contemplate the recommendation of any special system and would not proceed now with its work on that line.

The department, it was disclosed, has not yet fully organized its new bureau of markets, which is designed to organize and systematize the economical distribution of food between the producer and the consumer. In its announcement it is set forth that no less than 64 applicants for the position of specialist in co-operative organization disclosed their qualifications and that the civil service commission would require some time to make a recommendation.

ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA

Russian in Boston, Ordered Deported

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Ernest Jaumsem, a Russian newspaper man, arrived here from Hamburg last Friday on the steamship Cincinnati, has been ordered deported by the immigration officials who deem him "highly undesirable and unquestionably inimicable to the best interests of the United States."

Since his arrival Jaumsem has been detained at the immigration station. While the immigration board has been investigating his case, Attorney George Roemer has been working in the interest of the journalist. Roemer, who last night sent an appeal from the local board's decision to the commissioner of labor at Washington, said he would bring the case before the United States district court if defeated.

When questioned by the immigration officials upon his arrival here, Jaumsem said he had escaped from prison in Siberia, where he was serving a 5-year term as a political criminal. The newspaper man was imprisoned, the immigration officials said, because he had written in favor of a democratic form of government for Russia.

Jaumsem is 30 years old and married.

AT TYPOS' CONVENTION

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Reports of several committees were submitted today at the 25th convention of the International Typographical union. Yesterday's convention proceedings indicate there will be a contest in the convention Thursday when the "Seattle proposition" is considered as a special order. This proposition asks for a board of directors of 20 men instead of an executive council of three members.

CHELSEA IS WITH US

Tax Rate There Jumps 40 Cents a Thousand

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The tax rate of Chelsea for this year will be $21.50, an increase of 40 cents over the tax rate of last year. This increase is smaller than was expected by many.

When Mayor Willard took office this year he was confronted with an overdraft of about $25,000, an increase of $17,000 in the salaries of the police and fire departments, both of which were voted by the citizens of Chelsea at the last municipal election, and an increase in the state tax of $14,290.51. During the year Mayor Willard made a cut of about $60,000 in salaries, and also voted several increase orders which had been passed by the aldermen.

This year, according to the report of the assessors, there has been a gain of $880,309 in the real estate valuation and a loss of $267,059 in personal.

MEDICAL CONGRESS ENDS

"Leprosy" Was Discussed at Length

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The closing day of the International Medical Congress saw all the sections in session.

"Leprosy" gave rise to an interesting discussion in the bacteriology section. Major E. R. West of the Indian medical service said that after years of experience he had reached the belief that the disease in the great majority of cases was contracted through infected clothing. He emphasized the importance of sanitation and of the sterilizing of all clothing worn by leprosy.

RAIN BRINGS DROP IN TEMPERATURE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A general rain that brought a material drop in temperature is sweeping over practically the entire country today east of the Rocky mountains, except the great middle west corn belt where it is most needed.

In the region including Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Southern Illinois and part of Arkansas where there have been no rains for several weeks, the corn crop is practically burning up and weather bureau officials see no immediate prospect for relief.

Along the Atlantic coast and throughout the Great Lake region there has been a drop of 37 degrees since Sunday.

In diseases of the ear," was the subject of a paper by Dr. Clarence Blais of Boston in the Otology section. He mentioned as an instance that influenza was especially prone to ear diseases because of the dirt and discharges in a circumscribed space without the possibility of diffusion.

Arthur H. Cheattle, lecturer on auricular surgery at Kings college hospital called attention to the deafness associated with aeroplaning and said much would be heard on this subject in the future. Three factors, he said, were conducive to this form of occupational deafness—height, speed and the noise of the motor.

An Easy Way To Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, such as butter, rich cream, or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat by any of these methods. You can get fat by a remarkable new scientific discovery. It is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This masterstroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest food builder. Sargol aims through its regenerative re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Your druggist, as it will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per guarantee found in every package of Sargol. While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach trouble, it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

EXPRESS WRECKS CIRCUS TRAIN

13 Members of Barnum & Bailey's Show Were Fatally Injured—29 Others Suffered Minor Injuries

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 12.—Thirteen employees of the Barnum & Bailey circus whose train was struck at Richfield, Neb., by a Rock Island passenger equipment train returning from the Denver convolve late last night, were brought to this city today, all suffering from fatal or serious injuries.

Richfield is a small town, without a telegraph office and the serious nature of the wreck did not become known until several hours after it occurred.

In addition to the 13 taken to the local hospital, 28 other injured were brought to Omaha. These latter injuries consisted of bruises and cuts.

The wreck occurred shortly after midnight. The circus train was pulling into the siding at Richfield but had not cleared the main line when the passenger train struck it.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICS40 MILE RUN
TO MARBLEHEADNew York Yacht Club
Fleet Race for Cup
Offered by PrattRacing Fleet Smaller Than in Former Years

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Aug. 12.—The breadth of Massachusetts Bay lay before the New York Yacht Club fleet as it made sail today for the 40-mile run to Marblehead with the cups offered by Commodore Dallas H. Pratt, as the chief incentive for the sport. The racing fleet was a small one, being reduced to half a dozen schooners, eight 50-footers and three or four sloops, while the power division was made up of six large steam yachts and a score of power boats. The wind from the northeast and the yachts prepared for reaching work for the course from Wood End to Marblehead rock is northwest.

The commodore ordered the fleet out of the harbor at 9 o'clock and the regatta committee announced that the start would be made by an hour later off Long Point buoy. As it was but a short run there, the skippers took it easy and very few of the boats were under way before 9:45. The weather was wonderfully clear and from the base of the Monument it was possible to see the whole shore line of the bay from Truro to the fourth cliff at Scituate. The fishing fleet made sail with the yachts and several of the fast flyers waited outside of Long Point for an hour or more in the hope of getting up a brush with some of the schooners of yachts club along the shore. The visit of the New York fleet in Provincetown this summer was particularly welcomed by the townspeople despite the fact that the number of yachts was smaller than was anticipated.

Welcome Fleet

In former years the town has been evidenced by the north Atlantic squadron but up to the present time there has been scarcely a war vessel of any description inside of Long Point. Trade has therefore suffered, although the increasing tide of excursionists has brought thousands of dollars to the little city at the end of the cape. The yachtsmen proved good patrons this year and for several hours before the fleet sailed today the big power boats of the fish and provision dealers of the town were running about the fleet delivering orders like so many market wagons.

The owners of the 50-footers were very keen to get back to the racing after two days of enforced idleness and there were numerous side wagers among the skippers to say nothing of a number of private pools on the outcome of the day's run.

Many Challenge Cup

The run today completes the events for the cups offered by the day officers of the club. Tomorrow the yachts race in Massachusetts Bay for the navy challenge cups and finish at Gloucester, while on Thursday in the final run of the cruise back to Marblehead the yachts will race for the cups offered by the alumni association.

The main spring of the New York Yacht Club cruise this year, as in the past six years, has been Fleet Capt. Franklin A. Plummer. The office is an appointive one by the commodore and Captain Plummer has held it under three such officials.

The New York club drafted him from the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club of Oyster Bay in 1909, when Commodore James Manning of his unusual executive ability, induced him to help out the older club.

So successful was the cruise of 1909 that not only did Commodore James reappoint Captain Plummer the following year, but Commodore Blair continued him in office in 1911 and 1912 and Commodore Pratt retained him this year.

Interest in Cruise

The fleet captain in a cruise is the executive officer to the commodore and practically directs the fleet before and after the racing. Scarcely has the fleet anchored than a launch with the white flag and blue anchor of "the Fleet" is seen dashing from one yacht to another, welcoming the newcomers, speeding the departing yacht, arranging impromptu races, issuing invitations to dinners and receptions and making everyone happy and contented. Captain Plummer is so energetic in his endeavors to keep up the interest in the cruise that some of his friends insist on calling him "Mr. Fleet."

One of the older members of the New York Yacht club who has been away for some years, has been on the cruise this year and has had his first experience in a motor-propelled yacht. He looked over the big fleet at Newport the other day and was taken out on one of the first auto launches for a spin up the bay. After being whirled along at a 25-mile an hour gait, he was brought back and landed on one of the sailing schooners.

"How do you like it?" asked the skipper.

"Well," drawled the old-timer over his highball, "it was great fun, but it wasn't sport. I guess I will stick on this ship tomorrow," and he did. The next day his friend's big schooner was one of the leaders in Vineyard Haven after a grand run from Newport.

"That's what I call both fun and sport," said the gray-haired yachtsman.

Start in Smaller Classes

The start was made by the smaller classes of sloops at 10:10, the only contenders being the P boat Windward and the Boston knockabout Dorella. The Shimma, flagship of the Eastern Yacht club, and the Avenger were the next away with the latter in the lead. Six fifty-footers were then sent off, the Barbara, Pelione, Grayling, Sumara, Jroquois and Acushla in the order named.

Then came the schooners, the starters in the smallest division being the Venona and Dervish followed five minutes later by the Katrina, Muriel and Lorraine, the last named yacht having sent up a new fore topmast in place of the one carried away on Saturday.

The Ariel, Sea Fox, Corona, Encymlion and Irolita were sent off at 10:25. The run along the cape shore to Wood End was broad off the wind and was made very quickly. Once around that sandy point sheets were fattened a bit for the reach across the bay for Marblehead. By noon the entire fleet was well away from Race Point and the boats were heading across for the finish with every prospect of the leaders reaching Marblehead Rock by mid-afternoon.

$5000 STAKE FOR PACERS

Fast Horses Entered in
Detroit Races

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 12.—Some of the fastest so-called green pacers that ever met in a race were entered in the Chamber of Commerce $5000 stake for 2 1/2 pacers, the main attraction of today's grand circuit card. Leasta J., with a mark of 2:03, stake winner at Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, was pitted against Frank Bogash, Jr., whose last race gave him a mile in 2:03 1/2. Stethino Lad, Princess Margaret, Edith C. and Tom King.

A noteworthy fact in connection with this stake was the absence of a Geers entry. The veteran driver has won the event five times, an other driver ever captured it more than once.

Other events on the program were the 2:10 trot, $1000, in which the wonderful trot Flawah was entered against aged horses; the 2:15 trot for a purse of $1000 and the 2:05 pace $1000.

SONDER YACHTS

EVENTSWinners Will Get Place on American
Team That Will Meet German Boats
in Big Race

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 12.—Sonder yachts which are to contend for places on the American team that will meet the German boats off here in the international contests next month are being tried out daily for the elimination events, scheduled to begin next Saturday.

The sonder include the Otter, Ellen, Clima and Harpoon. The Otter, owned and sailed by C. H. W. Foster, probably will retain her cat rig instead of adopting the conventional jib with mainsail of less area. The Harpoon is an unknown quantity, but yachtsmen believe her owner, C. F. Adams, 24, will work the new boat into splendid form.

The rigging of the German sonders, the Angela X, the Wittelsbach VI, and the Serum, is proceeding rapidly. The boats soon will be ready for their workouts in these waters preliminary to the September contests.

CHRISTO COMES BACK

Is Training for Twelve Mile Marathon to be Run at Manchester Saturday

Joe Christo, Lowell's marathon runner, is training for the big race to be run at the 32d annual field day and carnival of the Court Granite State No. 1, F. of A. at Manchester, N. H. next Saturday afternoon. Joe says that he will be in the pink of condition, having eliminated the use of the American Fal Mals. He is out to bring home the bacon and since his victory at St. Anthony's reunion, Joe's stock has taken a big jump. He will run against a field of the best men in New England.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

The spit ball used by Reiger made it hard for the fielders to handle the sphere yesterday but still that did not excuse Dee from getting Flannery's throw even if it was a poor one. Just how slippery the ball was could be seen when it slipped out of Tom Daly's hand and rolled toward first base when Wood was on second. Wood easily made third.

Halstein made several great pickups yesterday and played his conservative game at first. Jack was also right on the job in the ninth when he cracked a hot single into center after Magee had reached first in the same manner.

Aubrey is the kind of a ball player we all like to see. With his rival at the bat in the fifth and himself on the first base coaching lines Aubrey encouraged the youngster into connecting for a hit.

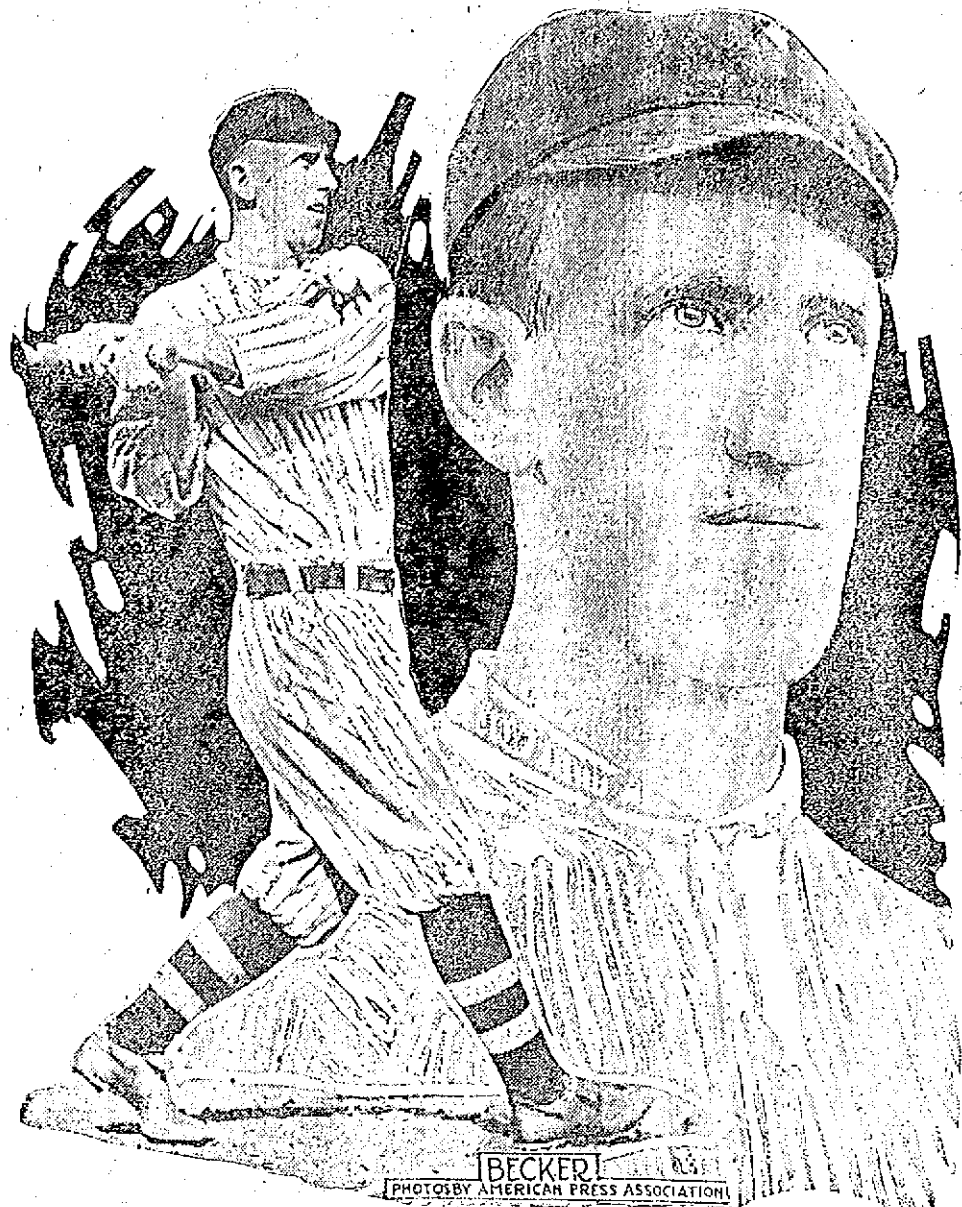

Worcester will play a double header there tomorrow and Lawrence also will take part in a double performance at Spaulding Park on Thursday. These two double-headers should draw a crowd that will tax the seating capacity of the park.

Jawa O'Brien got his in the first of the seventh when he disputed Kilhullen's out at first. Jawa had been kicking throughout the game and Umpire White wasted no words with him on this occasion but pulled out his watch at once when he ordered him off the field.

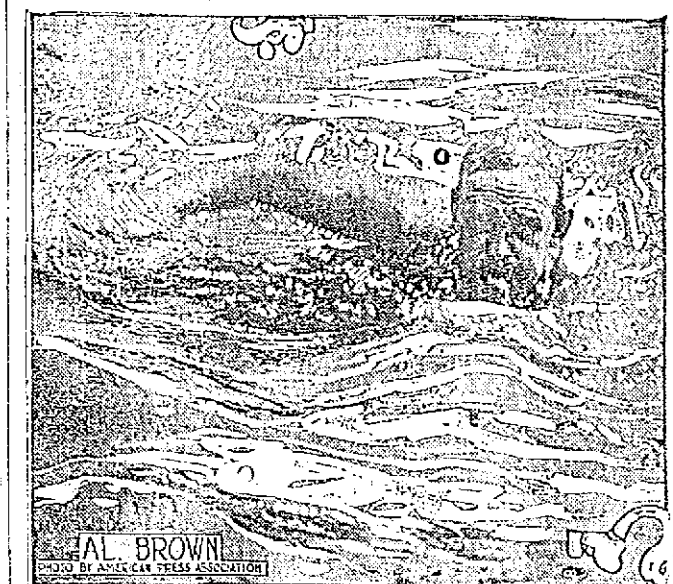

Red Rorty was certainly an unpopular personage down Portland way yesterday. Red banished Hickman from the game and the bleacherites descended upon him in their wrath. Nothing but the presence of a squad of police saved the doughy little ump from a bad mauling.

Yesterday is the first game that Dee has hit safely in for the last five home contests. Shortly has also been going back badly in the field of late. Take a brace, Dee, and show us some of your early season work.

CUT SLANG IN BASEBALL

Pres. Comiskey Favors
Plain English

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago Cubs, likes baseball reports best when they are written in plain English, while professors at the University of Chicago deplore the possibility of the elimination of slang from the accounts of games. These unexpected attitudes were learned today in a vote being taken by a local daily to determine just how the followers of the National pastime want the games described.

"I am in favor of a clean, plain English story of a baseball game," said Comiskey, who has just returned from the woods of northern Wisconsin. "What readers want to know is who won the game and how it was won. When these facts are covered up with a lot of useless words the reader is apt to grow tired."

"I think it would be pretty tame to report baseball in plain, ordinary English," said Prof. Nathaniel Butler.

ERRORS LOSE GAME TO WHALERS

Reiger Pitches Good Game—New Short Stop in Lowell Lineup—
New Bedford 5 Lowell 2

Although Reiger pitched good ball yesterday New Bedford won from the locals by the score of 5 to 2. Errors by Dee and Flannery in the ninth were responsible for the Whalers' win. Halstein, Magee and Clemens played good ball for Lowell, while Spires and Torphy provided the New Bedford fielding features. Woods pitched a steady game throughout.

Spores died out to Flannery and Dee threw out both Spires and Kennedy at first.

Clemens went out, Torphy to Logan. Miller died out to Logan and Torphy robbed DeGroff of a hit when he speared his grounder near second and threw him out at first.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 1.
Reiger started the trouble in the eighth by walking Dean. Torphy hit to Dee and the latter made a wild peg to Miller in an effort to force out Dean. Kane then took Dean's place on the paths. Kilhullen grounded to Flannery. Flannery threw low to Dee and Dee allowed the ball to roll between his legs and Kane came home. Woods brought in two more runs with his single to right center. Woods went to second on the throw-in and then took third when the ball slipped out of Daly's hands as he was about to throw to Reiger. Sweatt hit a hard one at Dee, who attempted to stop it with his gloved hand. Woods scored Spires sacrificed Sweatt to second. Clemens made a wonderful catch of Kennedy's long fly. Griffiths closed the lead by grounding out to Miller.

Lowell started off with a rush. Magee singled to center and Halstein placed one out in the same pasture. Magee went to third when Halstein was forced out at second on Daly's grounder to Torphy. Flannery sent up a long sacrifice fly to Griffiths which scored Magee, but Dee was an easy out for Spires and Logan.

Score: Lowell 2, New Bedford 5.

LAJOIE IS THERE YET
17th Year in the Major Leagues

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Napoleon Lajoie, second baseman of the Cleveland American League team, which plays the final game of the present series with Washington this afternoon, is celebrating the 17th anniversary of his entrance to the big leagues today.

Lajoie made his debut as a first baseman, playing with the Philadelphia Nationals. Later he went to second base where he found himself. He was a great batter from the start and today seems as good as a sure thing. Lajoie figures give him a batting average of .342. Many critics rate him the greatest batsman that ever lived.

During the war between the American and National leagues, Lajoie went to Cleveland because of an injunction which prevented him playing in the state of Pennsylvania with the Philadelphia Americans, to which team he jumped from the Philadelphia Nationals.

Lajoie said today that he will not quit playing ball until they tear his uniform from his back.

SUICIDE AT 16

In Baltimore last week two girls, one of them 16 years of age, the other 17, agreed to die together and carried out their compact by taking deadly poison. This is not the first of such shocking cases and unfortunately it will not be the last. In the communities where such things happen they must produce a feeling of astonishment as great as the feeling of horror by which they are regarded. To those who read of such suicides in far away places the realization must come that they are far from common; it is to be feared that their number is on the increase. Even the most hardened of mortals must be shocked at such evidences of despair in the hearts of the young for whom life should be an unexplored garden of delight.

No matter how much we regret the self-inflicted death of a mature man or woman we can generally understand the feeling of despair that prompted the act; in many cases the circumstances surrounding it take away part of the blame. When age lays her heavy hand on the activities; when the awful anguish of disillusion is borne in on a crushed spirit; when death relieves a weak mortal of some being that was extremely dear; when sickness or trouble presses a thorn crown on the weary brain of one who has striven and striven in vain, sometimes the burden of overwhelming sorrow becomes too heavy to bear and the frenzied soul seeks relief in death from a burden that it could not seemingly shake off otherwise. Indeed in many cases we cannot tell whether reason had any part in the terrible deed of self destruction. Before a realization of great calamity the mind sometimes reels until the miserable victim is not responsible for what may follow.

But how different it is in the case of the young. Youth has its troubles but they are transitory. It sometimes tastes prematurely the bitterness of defeat, the sense of sickening failure that comes with ruined hopes and fallen castles. But it is only climbing the road that leads to maturity; over the hill is all the golden promise of the future to a normal mind. The bud is prelude of the flower, the rivulet is the great river that is to be, the young are the promise of the men and women of the morrow. When then we see them deliberately turn their backs on life and time, facing in cowardly courage the darkness of the unknown, seeking by gun or gas or poison to bring oblivion on an existence they have found unbearable so young, we may well pause horrified and ask "Why do they despair at 16?" Judging from newspaper reports most of those who commit suicide at an early age are girls. Is it not possible then that society is responsible for having created a type of young woman that was formerly unknown? The Baltimore Sun commenting on the double suicide in that city recently states that the evolution of the modern young woman is responsible. We are familiar with the frequent comments on the disappearance of the innocent young lady of 16 and 17 and the growing up of a forward, abnormal creature "young in years but old in worldly wisdom" who has lost all the charm of innocent girlhood—if she ever possessed it. The result is graphically described in the Baltimore Sun in the following sentences:

Whatever may be the cause, the fact remains that we have among us a new and advanced girl as well as a new and advanced woman, and that the world and society are not gaining anything by the substitution of this type for the former one. When every sweet illusion has been destroyed at the outset of life, when we know all that is to be known, when we have planned with no preparation, into all its mysteries and secrets, what is more logical than to wake up at 16 or 17 with the conviction that it is a very bad and bitter world, that there is nothing else to it than unhappiness and sorrow, and that it is better to end all at once than to continue the hopeless tragedy?

UNION

In this nation of teachers, preachers and orators it is not surprising that we should sometimes tire of hearing that good is good and bad is bad. Plain truths become blunt from repetition; they fall on ears accustomed to hear them as the admonitions of elders and too often fall on the ears of children. We listen to a splendid sermon or an oratorical flight of fancy and though we are momentarily elevated and transported we go our ways forgetful and unheeding. But sometimes a teacher or preacher or orator says an old thing in a new and convincing fashion that gives the truth all the charm of novelty. Such an address was made on Sunday by Cardinal Gibbons speaking before the delegates of the convention of federations of Catholic societies in Milwaukee, Wis. Many former addresses of the beloved and distinguished churchman have received wide circulation and the following paragraph is also worthy of being generally read and considered at this time when domestic peace has made its lessons unfamiliar at home, and when the chaotic condition of Mexico and the recent wars in the Balkan states show the need for the application of it abroad.

"Union is the law of life, of strength and growth and of development. Disunion is the law of weakness and disintegration. The American republic owes its material and political prosperity to the union and co-operation of the several states. If those states were disunited and exerting their forces in opposite directions like the present republic of Mexico, we would never have attained the prosperity that has marked our career. For four years, during Civil war, we were disunited; and the result was shedding of fraternal blood, with imminent danger of the dissolution of the nation."

The Cardinal was referring especially to the union of religious and moral forces in the development of Christianity but the lesson of his address are too broad for sectional interpretation. In the above paragraph he speaks of the union that has made of America a great nation, the union that must be preserved in its entirety if this country is to continue in its successful march onward and upward—the union of the states and all the men in them for the cause of justice and righteousness. This is the union back of the "new freedom" which unfortunately in the good American fashion has been taken largely as a joke.

CURRENCY REFORM BILL

The currency bill which has gone before the democratic house caucus today promises to usurp the place of importance until now held by the tariff bill. But the passage of the tariff legislation to its present stage gives no evidence of the fate that awaits the bill for monetary reform. There is a strong opposition among many of the democrats towards its consideration at the present extra session and on the other hand it is to be supported by many prominent legislators of other parties. The president is still as firm as ever in his desire to have it acted on without delay and his insistence seems to be grounded on the assurance that it will pass the house at least without material change.

The true fact seems to be that there is a very good chance of the bill becoming law at this special session. For the last twenty years or so the need of reform in our banking and currency system has been apparent, but it has been difficult to secure unanimity of action or public co-operation sufficient to secure its passage. It is not at all certain that the present attitude will continue and while the people favor the project as a whole and when there is a good chance to bring about the desired change or at least some degree of improvement, it might be well to avail of it.

Objection to it, whether by Senator Hitchcock or others, is usually based on the alleged confusion that it is liable to entail before it is entirely successful in operation. Some consider that the country will have sufficient trouble in meeting the new conditions imposed by the tariff bill without having a counter irritant in the currency bill. Supporters of the currency bill, on the other hand, aver that possible tariff confusion is all the greater reason for the passage of the currency measure. The confusion, if there is any, will have to be faced sooner or later if currency reform is to be introduced and its supporters declare that the sooner it is over, the better. Things will speedily shape themselves so that it will be easy to see which argument has prevailed in the national capital.

JEWEL ROBBERIES

The reported disappearance of jewels to the value of $300,000 from Narragansett Pier and a more recent robbery of jewels valued at $3000 from Kennebunkport will not come home with crushing force to most of us to whom a few trifles in gold or precious stones are luxuries, but it will arouse astonishment that people will take such expensive ornaments on vacation for personal adornment. To those who go through the strenuous ordeal of a bejeweled social season it should surely be a rest to place their glittering ornaments of value in a safely deposited vault and seek the change and comparative quiet of vacation free from the worry which the possession of so much jewelry entails. As too often fall on the ears of children, we listen to a splendid sermon or an oratorical flight of fancy and though we are momentarily elevated and transported we go our ways forgetful and unheeding. But sometimes a teacher or preacher or orator says an old thing in a new and convincing fashion that gives the truth all the charm of novelty. Seen and Heard

If ignorance really is bliss, the bliss of some people must be beyond expression.

No girl likes to dance with a man who apparently acts in accordance with the principle of not letting his right foot know what his left foot is doing.

A man really doesn't need to ask his wife what she has bought when she comes home tired from a hard day's shopping. He has only to wait until the beginning of the next month, and then he will find out in detail.

The man who has a fur-lined overcoat is looked on without the slightest feeling of envy by his friends in August.

If a good tailor is also a good bill collector, he stands a good chance of accumulating wealth.

More men never gets over his astonishment at woman's faculty of glancing at a two-inch sample and knowing just how her new gown is going to look.

If a man takes seventeen bottles of patent medicine to cure his rheumatism, without noticeable improvement and without complaint, his neighbors may feel that there are justifications in thinking that there is liquor in it.

Even if a man in politics fails to get the office that he wants, the privilege of the small ad page is always open to him.

The homely girl may make even a better wife than the pretty girl—if she gets a chance.

Certainly six hours of sleep is enough for anyone, if he only has it often enough.

A great many men talk glibly about the Monroe doctrine who would be in trouble if they were called upon to explain it.

When a girl lends a young man a book with pencil marks at the sides of a lot of sentimental passages, it is time for him to be careful what he says and does.

It always causes a great deal of grief when a young man starts in to learn to play a cornet, if he lives in a crowded neighborhood.

Sometimes when the line is busy and the telephone girl tells you in response to your request that she will call you, she actually does.

Another advantage that a woman has over a man is that a man doesn't have a hairpin when he wants to read an untrivial magazine in the street car.

The angry man, who, going home at night, writes down the offending street car conductor's number on an envelope generally thinks better of it in the morning.

SIZED UP

The new folks in the house next door are moving in today. I peeked and saw the stuff the men were taking off the drey. Say, honestly, I'd be ashamed of furniture like that.

It really wasn't good enough for a nine-dollar flat.

The rugs were cheap, and frayed, and the dressing-case was marred. The parlor set was out of date. And everything was so cheap. Really, a hundred-dollar bill. Would you buy it all?

They may be good, kind, pleasant folks. But I'm not going to call!

Excellent Summer Hotels in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado

Each year Colorado becomes more and more the summer playground, not only for our own people, but for those who come from abroad. One reason is that in addition to the marvelous health giving climate, and the joy of living that one feels in Colorado, the people there have been wise in establishing thoroughly good and comfortable hotels, boarding-houses and ranch houses, where visitors can live on the fat of the land and even in luxury if that is demanded.

We have books and maps and pamphlets describing Colorado and telling in detail about these living places, the prices charged. Will you allow me to loan you for further detailed information about Colorado, for it is my duty and pleasure to assist in making plans for Colorado outings. No charge. EDITORIAL COMMENT

Refusing to Vote

Lawrence Eagle: The right of suffrage is indeed a kingly right, secured to the people of this and other republics at the cost of many sacrifices, much bloodshed. It is a priceless heritage, passed down to us by the patriots who starved and froze at Valley Forge, and gave their lives on many a hard-won battlefield. The sovereign citizens of these United States who voluntarily absent themselves from the polls, is as certainly abdication of his sovereignty as any appointed ruler is who steps down from his throne and hands over his scepter to another.

Tariff Delay

Newport News: Senator Lippitt's speech charging sectionalism in the preparation of the tariff bill has stirred up a great deal of feeling among the southern senators, who are preparing replies. It is possible that there will be so numerous that the date for a final vote on the measure will be delayed beyond present expectations. All predictions of an early passage of the bill are mere guesswork. The majority leaders realize that, notwithstanding the fact that they have set a new record in pushing consideration of the measure, only a beginning has been made and the earliest any one will now promise completion of the task is Sept. 15.

Mullhall

Fall River Globe: No sooner did Col. Mullhall escape from the inquisition of the senate committee than he was put on the track by a like committee of some investigators. The point made is being worked by these congressional inquisitors much harder, and with far less profit to himself, than he was by the National Association of Manufacturers when he was on the lobby job for that organization.

Will Run Slower

Christian Science Monitor: The Long Island railroad is going to run slower trains. It has discovered that most of the people who use it have plenty of time to allow for the exercise of common sense in the matter of speed. Is not this the case with the patrons of practically all the railroads? And is it not the case with practically all the automobiles? And is it not the case with practically all the automobilists?

Goldenrod

Lowell Sun: The goldenrod begins to look more at its ease than it did in July. Somehow the season is never so late that the goldenrod doesn't arrive too early. Nobody wants to see "autumn" written legibly on the river bank in mid-summer, even if the letters are fretted gold all finished off with shining kinks and curls. Yet the goldenrod is not so easily satisfied to begin those writing exercises before the last load of hay has crinkled away toward the barn.

Everybody Interested

Portland Express: An exchange notes that the whole country wants to vote when New York elects a mayor, which is another way of saying that the country generally believes in good government and would like to have its hand in procuring it, even for the New Yorkers.

Some Speed

Woonsocket Call: A Frenchman recently flew at the rate of 130 miles an hour without break or mishap of any kind. A speed of 15 miles an hour, or even more, is not a wild dream. The aeroplans of the future will probably make a common thing of such flying some day. He may do even better—we rather suspect he will. Around the world in 10 days seems like a vision; but it is nothing to strain the credulity. And it would be unnecessary to expatiate upon the beauties which such a voyage would unfold.

He Must Speak

Manchester Union: A point has now been reached in the war between Tammany and Governor Sulzer of New York in which he must speak for himself or stand as the most stupid and discredited of present-day politicians. His side of the story has not yet been heard, and it has been only fair to let the other side speak. But it must be obvious to the governor that he can no longer maintain silence and retain public confidence or the respect of his supporters.

One Hoodlum Punished

Lyons Telegram: The Lyons Telegram extends its congratulations to the man who has just been sent to jail for a young boy who threw a stone at a passing automobile yesterday on Stewarts street. It was fit punishment for the boy and one that should be repeated as often as the deed is committed. The man, who is unknown to the telegram, did exactly the proper thing under the circumstances, and while he earned the wrath of the mob, he earned the hearty commendation of the persons who were walking on the street at the time and who witnessed the throwing of the stone and the subsequent punishment of the youngster.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not hear the weight of my clothes and was bloated with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle.

Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 309 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

NOT WHITE SLAVER

Florence Welcome Liberated by Government

Florence Welcome, the 17-year-old Lowell girl who was arrested with Arthur H. Richards on charges of conspiracy to violate the white slave law has been discharged by United States Commissioner Hayes, the government withdrawing the charge against her. Richards was arraigned before Judge Morton in the United States district court yesterday, and was committed to await the action of the grand jury.

The Welcome girl at first took her arrest very much to heart, and while waiting to be arraigned in police court in this city took poison. Her life was saved by prompt action on the part of the medical authorities. After she was arraigned in Boston she was sent to a hospital for treatment. Interested parties have the young woman in their care at present.

The discharge of Florence Welcome was due to an investigation by the government, which disclosed the fact that she was not the instigator of an alleged plan to lure two young girls from New Hampshire for immoral purposes. During the late campaign against vice in Nashua, N. H., she took a prominent part in substantiating the testimony of the detectives as to violations of the law in various resorts in the city. Her testimony regarding conditions shocked the community and led to the cleaning up of the city.

MAY CLOSE BEACH

Lawrence Attorney Threatens to Put the Lid on Salisbury—Till in Amesbury Court

Declaring that if cottagers at Salisbury beach who with the Salisbury beach associates are having trouble over rental continue to force them to bring legal proceedings he might close the beach to the public, Atty. Walter Coulson of Lawrence, one of the Associates, had a lively tilt in the Amesbury police court with Atty. Essex S. Abbott of Haverhill who appeared as counsel for Mrs. Sarah E. Dewhurst of Methuen, charged with criminal trespass.

Atty. Abbott, during the hearing and arguments before Judge Anthony Reddy, asserted that the proceedings brought by the Salisbury Beach Associates are without precedent in this commonwealth and declared that if an action was instituted it should have been by civil process and not criminal. He also stated that Mrs. Dewhurst intends to fight the case to the limit and if necessary carry it to the supreme judicial court or to the United States supreme court. After the evidence in the case had been introduced Judge Reddy withheld his decision until Monday, Aug. 25, for the purpose of looking up the law in the matter.

The production of salt in the United States, including Hawaii and Porto Rico, in 1912, according to an advance chapter from "Mineral Resources, 1912" on the production of salt and bromine, by W. C. In addition to the domestic production of salt amounting to 33,324,595 barrels, 938,684 barrels were imported. These importations were in part offset by exports amounting to 445,785 barrels, leaving an excess of imports

TRIAL OF MAURY I. DIGGS RESUMED

Hundreds Tried to Get Into Court to Hear Testimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Forty-eight spectators and no more of the crowd that lined up early today had a chance to get inside United States District Judge Van Fleet's courtroom where the trial of Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, charged with violating the Mann act, was picked up where it left off last Friday. There are 45 seats in the courtroom outside the bar, and Judge Van Fleet ordered that, beginning today, no one who could not find a seat should be allowed to enter.

The order disappointed hundreds who hoped to hear the testimony of Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, who were expected to testify today.

Two new witnesses were scheduled to precede the girls—Martin Heasley, an uncle of Marsha Warrington, who was instrumental in causing the arrests in the case, and Chief of Police Hillhouse of Reno, who served the warrants.

BARRETT AND BROWN CLASH

this time referring to certain bills for out-of-town expenses as filed in his department by Commissioner Barrett during 1912 and 1913. Relative to these bills he said: "There is one department in this building for which the expense accounts are simply sent to my office, marked 'out-of-town expenses,' and I would like to have those bills itemized. I now refer to certain bills from the commissioner of fire and water works departments, Andrew E. Barrett. This has raised unfavorable comment, for no other commissioner has sent in expense accounts as did Mr. Barrett. I have no opposition if he can prove those accounts. I believe the commissioner should submit itemized accounts as to where and when those expenses were made, and I move that Commissioner Barrett be ordered to present his expenses in an itemized form." Inasmuch as the motion was not seconded, no more was said on the question.

A contract made between the commissioner of streets and highways and the Cressolth Co. for the construction of granite sidewalks in the city of Lowell for the year 1913, was approved.

The following opinions from the city solicitor having to do with the care of the comfort station and petition for pension were read:

Comfort Station Control

August 11, 1913.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: Some time ago, a request was presented to the city solicitor from the municipal council that an ordinance be drafted establishing the control of the comfort station on Fairs street in the city of Lowell, and designating the department which should have jurisdiction of the management of said comfort station.

At the time of the enactment of the charter of 1911, no such institution as a comfort station was in existence, and nothing in the charter points out how and in what manner such an institution should be classified, controlled or managed. I, therefore, submit, that while an ordinance would be the effectual manner of designating the department which would control the management and administration of this new departure, yet, it seems to me, that since, by its very nature, the comfort station is one of sanitation and health, the mayor, as commissioner of public safety, should control the management and administration thereof.

I submit, however, a draft of an ordinance which, if you deem wise, might well be adopted.

Respectfully,

J. Joseph Hennessy, City Solicitor.

John P. Green Pension

August 5, 1913.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: In reply to your request for the opinion of the city solicitor relative to the interpretation of the law governing the petition of John P. Green, who claims to have served twenty (20) years in the department of streets and highways of the city of Lowell, and who claims to be entitled to a pension from the city by reason of the fact that he comes under the provisions of section 1 of chapter 447 of the acts of 1912, which reads as follows:

"Section 1. A veteran of the civil war in the service of any city or town, if incapacitated for active duty, may be retired from active service by the city council of the city, or by the lecton of the town, at one-half the rate of the average compensation paid to him during the two years immediately preceding his retirement; provided, that no veteran shall be retired under the provisions of this act unless he has been in the service of the city or town for a period of not less than 10 years preceding the time of his retirement."

The facts, as I discover them, are these: John P. Green's name first appears on the payroll of the city of Lowell as a teamster, in the year 1892, and it last appears on said rolls in December, 1912, and he has not been employed by the city of Lowell since that time.

The city council of the city of Lowell accepted the provisions of chapter 447 of the acts of 1912, by vote in meeting held June 5, 1913. Therefore, the law is in force, which entitles a veteran to a pension at the will of the municipal council, provided, that the veteran meets all requirements specified in the law.

First. The veteran must have been in the service of the city for 10 years.

Second. He must be incapacitated for further service in said city.

Third. He must be in the employ of the city at the time of his request to be placed upon the pension roll.

Upon examination of the records of the department of streets and highways, I find that John P. Green has not been employed by the city of Lowell since December, 1912, and I find no record in the street department of any fact that would lead me to believe that the petitioner ever received a "leave of absence," as he verbally represents to me, but Commissioner Brown informs me that, sometime in December, 1912, he verbally granted the petitioner a leave of absence.

The act provides, however, that he shall be paid one-half the compensation received by him for the two years prior to his retirement, and the municipal council must be satisfied that the petitioner is incapacitated for active duty before the pension can be granted him, as well as establishing the fact that said petitioner is a veteran.

Respectfully,

J. Joseph Hennessy, City Solicitor.

Ordinance Amended

The following ordinance amendment in compliance with a petition presented by the council by labor representatives some time ago was voted:

Amending section 3 of chapter 30 of the ordinances of the city of Lowell.

Be it ordained by the municipal council of the city of Lowell, as follows:

That section 3 of chapter 30 of the ordinances of the city of Lowell is hereby amended by inserting at the end of said section 3 the following:

"But nothing hereinbefore mentioned shall prevent the distribution and circulation, in and upon any street or sidewalk in the city of Lowell, of handbills or circulars containing literary or educational matter, provided, that permission is first obtained from the mayor."

So that said section shall read:

Section 3. No person shall cause to be distributed any handbill, circular, program, or advertising slip in or upon any street or sidewalk in the city, excepting that such handbill, circular, program, or advertising slip may be placed within the doors of stores, offices, and business houses, and at the doors of residences, but nothing hereinbefore mentioned shall prevent the distribution and circulation, in and upon any street or sidewalk in the city of Lowell, of handbills or circulars containing literary or educational matter, provided, however, that permission is first obtained from the mayor for such distribution and circulation.

The meeting adjourned at 12 o'clock until Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

HORSEBACK SUFFRAGIST CRUSADER, NEWEST VOTES FOR WOMEN STUNT

SUFFRAGETTE STARTS ON HORSEBACK CRUSADE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—For the first time American suffragists are trying campaigning on horseback. Hikes on foot and journeys in carriages are now old stories. The crusaders—Miss Harriot Peritt, who is a teacher in New York public schools, Mrs. Nora Blatch de Forest, Miss Crozier and Mrs. Marie Funn—who left for a two weeks' tour of the Hudson valley and the Catskill mountains wear linen riding habits and ride cross saddle—that is, like a man. They wear purple, white and green votes for women regalia and gleeful cockades in their rough rider hats. Each one carries the necessary equipment for the trip. Open air meetings are held every noon and evening throughout the trip. The horseback crusaders distribute suffrage literature at all the farms and hamlets through which they pass. GARDNER OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Congressman Candidate for the Republican Nomination

Former Governor Guild to Support Gardner Against Col. Benton

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—While Gov. Foss was yesterday taking another step toward an announcement that he would accept a republican nomination for a fourth term, Congressman Augustus P. Gardner suddenly emerged from a brief retirement at the Hamilton home, trumpeted forth his candidacy and authorized the circulation of nomination papers.

The governor, in reply to an invitation extended by former Mayor James M. W. Hall of Cambridge to return to the republican party, brought himself to the point of admitting that he desired another term, and expressed the fear that his candidacy might be necessary to save his twin policies of reciprocity and railroad regulation.

Congressman Gardner, who stood forth as a vigorous opponent of former President Taft's proposed reciprocity pact with Canada, stated that he had decided to enter the contest after former Congressman Samuel W. McCall had declined to be a candidate for the U. S. P. nomination.

The Gardner move took the politicians generally by surprise. In the morning, republican leaders were giving it as their opinion that there was no substance to the report that Gardner would run, and Gov. Foss took time off from giving out letters from republicans who wanted him as the gubernatorial standard bearer, to chuckle, and upbraid "the more the merrier," and "I hope everybody gets it."

In the evening the Essex county congressman was a full-fledged candidate; a carefully-selected squad, including former Gov. Curtis Guild, was scurrying for the 1000 signatures he must have between now and Saturday afternoon to get his name on the republican primary ballots, and the governor, after saying "That's all right," stopped talking for the present. Speaker Cushing joined the Gardner forces last night.

Supporters of Col. Everett C. Benton of Belmont, already in the field for the republican nomination, with far more than the necessary number of signatures, were surrounded when they heard that Gardner was a candidate. After a brief breathing spell following the declinations of State Treasurer Stevens and McCall to compete against their candidate, they found another obstacle in the road. Col. Benton himself made the following statement:

"I do not believe that Mr. Gardner will be a candidate against me in the primaries. I have been given to understand that he was favorable to my candidacy." Later in the evening he changed his mind.

Some of Col. Benton's supporters were even more outspoken. They declared that Gov. Foss' desire to see a candidate in the lists against Benton was at last realized, and that the next move would be the formal entry of Gov. Foss himself.

FOR CLEANING WINDOWS and GLASS WARE

CARBONOL

Windows and glassware cleaned with Carbonol solution assume a crystal clearness unobtainable by any other means. You do not know how clean windows can be made to look unless you have washed them with Carbonol.

Use Carbonol everywhere in the house for difficult cleaning. Sometimes soap and water will seem to clean well enough, but try the same work with a little Carbonol added to the water and you will find that things can be made cleaner yet.

Moreover Carbonol is a disinfectant and deodorant. Soap and water do not kill germs but Carbonol does.

Accordingly you should use Carbonol not merely where you want more perfect cleaning, but also where soap and water are inadequate, such as clearing out the garbage can after it has been emptied, to keep it clean and sanitary; to suppress odors and keep away flies.

Carbonol will remove oil, tar and axle grease stains. Carpets, rugs and hangings can be brightened by sponging with Carbonol solution.

Carbonol is easy to use and is very cheap.

A sample bottle will be sent free on request.

RIDDLED CASKET WITH BULLETS

Military Escort to the Body of Tancrede Auguste, Late President of Hayti, Fired

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Instead of presenting arms when ordered to do so, the military escort to the body of Tancrede Auguste, late president of Hayti, and their sides at the casket and riddled it with bullets, according to Marshall Kemp of Lexington, Ind., a young engineer employed by the National railroad of Hayti, who reached here from Port au Prince today.

The shooting occurred in the Cathedral of St. Mary. Mr. Kemp said, at the conclusion of a funeral service of great solemnity and in the presence of hundreds of persons, Mr. Kemp was one of a party of Americans, he said who attended the funeral.

"The casket occupied a place in the centre aisle," Mr. Kemp said, "and the twenty-four soldiers stood in two lines on each side. At the blessing they were ordered to present arms. Instead they fired several rounds into the body. The church was thrown into uproar and the funeral throng fled in panic."

This outrage was one of many disorders occurring in Port au Prince on the day of the funeral. Mr. Kemp said. He added that President Auguste had made many political enemies, and that it was generally reported, but without confirmation, that he had been poisoned.

THE MAKINGS

Of the boy are in the man. The youth who is deprived of playing any game that he desires to indulge in will, sooner or later, seek that pastime and play with companions who, in most cases, are not of high character; through associations he will acquire their expressions and mannerisms in a short time. Point out the youth or grown-up who would not accept an invitation to a game of pool. Pool tables can be found in many homes, clubs and association halls. However, there are some youths whose parents cannot afford a pool table for the home. Neither can they pay the fee of the boy for membership in athletic societies. These are just the boys that come here.

AND

Enjoy pool under conditions as favorable as can be found in any well conducted club or association building.

THE PAPERS

Or permit, allowing the youth to play in this pool room is signed by the parents or guardian and police inspector, presented to the proprietor who in turn verifies the signatures before accepting such permit.

STRANGLER HERSELF

Aged Woman Dies by Peculiar Method. Tragedy visited the famous "Old Stone House" situated at the corner of Main street and Pelham road in Salem, N. H., on the Canobie Lake line, yesterday morning when its aged mistress, Mrs. Ann Stickney, committed suicide by strangling herself. It is thought that she committed the act as the result of melancholia, having just recovered from an attack of illness. Mrs. Lowe who has been taking care of the invalid was washing about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when Mrs. Stickney said that she thought she would go and lie down. Sometime later Mrs. Lowe went to see if she was comfortable and found her dead in a chair, a rope tied to the door knob, the story. Apparently she had gone into the room and after sitting down on a chair had put the rope about her neck, attached it to the door knob and pulled it, strangling herself. Medical Examiner L. G. Dearborn of Derry arrived last night and pronounced Mrs. Stickney a suicide. She was 82 years old and the motive was probably melancholia. Mrs. Stickney was born in Salem and was well known, having resided there years ago and she had lived alone in the "Old Stone House" since that time. Her only surviving relative is a brother, Cheever Gage of Pelham.

Among the speakers at the conference will be Miss Jane Addams, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Representative Raker and Representative Keating.

PACIFIC MILLS

At Lawrence Said to be Planning Big Extension—Will Weave Cloth for Print Works. LAWRENCE, Aug. 12.—Although no official confirmation could be obtained today it is understood that the Pacific Mills are making arrangements for an extension of their plant, and that work of excavation may begin in the fall. It is understood that the company plans to build an extension to the present mill buildings along the north bank of the Merrimack river, by building 60 feet out into the river, the addition to extend from the railroad bridge on Broadway easterly about 1100 feet. No definite plans regarding the recently acquired Atlantic mill property, have yet been announced by the Pacific company, but it is probable the Atlantic mill buildings will be renovated or torn down and a new structure erected in their stead. The uncertainty in the central bridge project, insofar as it affects the land seizure of the 50-foot strip of Atlantic mill property, is delaying the decision of the directors as far as this property is concerned. When the mill re-opens after the annual two weeks' vacation it is planned to have all the printing done in the new plant east of the Wood mill, and by that time it is expected the old print works will be torn down.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

Local Greeks Celebrate Balkan Peace Treaty

The sons of Athens who make their home in this city, celebrated the ending of the Balkan war last night by a parade and a mass meeting at the church in Jefferson street, where stirring addresses were delivered by Lowell and out-of-town orators.

The Greeks were so pleased with the sudden ending of hostilities, and also with the result of the split, by which Greece greatly enlarged her territory, that a celebration was planned for last night. Shortly after 7 o'clock the entire colony of men, headed by the Sixth Regiment brass band, paraded through the principal streets of the district, and the parade ended at the church, where a religious service was held.

Rev. Fr. Pangopoulos, pastor, assisted by Rev. Fr. Froscouelos of Boston, officiated. Hymns were sung by the entire congregation and prayers were offered for the safety of the four patriarchs of the church, for the king and queen and for the queen mother; for the sailors and soldiers of the nation and for the prosperity of all the people.

At the close of the religious service a stirring address on patriotism was given by Hon. Constantine Papanicolaopolous of Boston, who reviewed the important incidents of the war. At the conclusion of his address the band struck up the Greek national anthem.

Dr. John R. Gatsopoulos addressed the gathering from the steps of the church. The men then formed in a parade and with hundreds of pieces of red and white bunting, paraded through the principal streets of the colony.

SUSPECT SMUGGLING PLOT

Chinaman Caught Yesterday Believed to Have Been Brought in by Convivance of Cymric Crew

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The capture at the Hoosear Tunnel docks yesterday morning of a Chinaman who is thought to have been smuggled in on the liner Cymric from Liverpool, leads the local authorities to believe that they are on the trail of a well-developed plot for the smuggling of Chinamen into the United States.

While on duty at the docks yesterday morning Customs Guard W. J. Klahane noticed two white men and a Chinaman sneaking away from the pier. He pursued them and, with the

Capt. Crisp of Revenue Cutter Returns from Cruise to Behring Sea and Tells of Experience

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—Bogostof, the famous freak volcanic island of Behring sea, is again performing contortions and every volcano of the vast mountain range of western Alaska and the Aleutian island is emitting smoke, steam or vapor, according to Capt. C. O. Crisp of the revenue cutter Unalga, which returned to Seattle today from her first cruise to Behring sea. Capt. Crisp said that Bogostof island, which has interested scientists since its first appearance in 1906, had undergone another change since it was visited last year.

Natives told him that the island entirely disappeared for a time and when it reappeared above the surface its shape was different and it was several hundred yards from its former position.

Mount Kanana, Mount Kiska, Mount Adakushin, Mount Carlisle and Mount Shishalyn are all emitting steam and showing signs of activity, said Captain Crisp.

"Mount Katmai, which was in violent eruption in 1912, is sending out smoke, but there has been no discharge of volcanic ash this year so far as I could learn," said the captain.

KNOWN IN THIS CITY

Escaped Convict Was Arrested Here

The police of New England, and especially this vicinity, have been asked to be on the lookout for Joseph Henry Peters, (colored) who escaped from the Knox county jail in Rockland last Friday, and who after freeing himself liberated Eugene Larabee and Sanford Magee. Peters escaped by sawing the bars of his cell.

Peters is a dangerous criminal and in October 1887, was sentenced in Lawrence to 10 years in the state prison for burglaries committed in Methuen. August 3 of that year the home of C. A. Brackett, the foreman for C. H. Tenney, and two other houses were entered and property, including gold watches and other jewelry, was stolen.

Detective Morton Batchelder, who was a member of the state police force at the time, worked on the case and soon secured sufficient evidence to warrant the arrest of Peters, which was made in this city Sept. 3. Peters was then known as Burt Brandon, but his correct name was learned and he was sentenced to state prison.

In working on the case Mr. Batchelder learned that the man had been sentenced in 1882 for a burglary committed in Dedham. Previous to that he had been arrested in Knox county, Me., for burglary and convicted, but escaped. After serving his sentence in Dedham he was rearrested in Maine but again he escaped, and operated in New York, New England and Canada.

Peters was being held for the grand jury on a charge of burglary when he made his escape last Friday. As he is a dangerous burglar, the police have been asked to use extra efforts to locate him for the Maine authorities. In talking of his experiences with Peters, Mr. Batchelder said:

Peters always worked alone. After he got into a house the first thing he did was to fix the outside doors so he could make his escape quickly if the people in the house awakened. In many instances he took clothing out of a house, when frightened by some one moving in bed, and after relieving the clothing of all valuables would throw it on the ground where it would be found next morning.

Another peculiarity about Peters was that he always had a good meal in every house he entered. If not disturbed, he is a bad burglar to have at large. For he has operated in the Andovers, Methuen, Haverhill, Roxford and other places in this vicinity and he is dangerously familiar with this section of the country.

DEFENDS CURRENCY BILL

Rep. Glass Makes Speech—Open Caucus Denied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A vigorous defense of the administration currency bill by Representative Carter Glass, one of its authors, was received with general applause and support in the first session yesterday of the caucus of democratic members of the house before which the measure is to be worked over and its fate determined.

Representative Glass' speech followed an unsuccessful attempt by the "insurgent" democrats of the banking and currency committee to have the caucus thrown open to the public. Led by Representative Neeley of Kansas and Ragsdale of South Carolina, members of the committee; Representative Henry of Texas and others, the advocates of the open caucus mustered 53 votes, against 119.

The currency bill was laid before the caucus by Representative Glass as chairman of the committee with the endorsement of 11 democratic members. Representatives Neeley and Ragsdale and Representative Eagle of Texas withheld their approval.

Mr. Glass' speech in explanation of the bill, which began as a general statement of the purposes and hopes of its framers, was turned into an emphatic defense of the measure when the "insurgents" insisted that it should make provision for the issuance of currency upon warehouse receipts for corn, wheat and cotton.

Speculation would receive the active support of the government, he declared, if those amendments were put into the bill. The legitimate demands of farming communities, he said, for money to carry on ordinary farming and commercial operations, were fully covered by the measure, and to make warehouse receipts for cotton or grain a legal security for the issuance of the proposed new treasury notes would furnish the means by which speculation could hold the cotton and grain crops in storage for an indefinite period.

Friends of the administration bill, as the result of yesterday's opening session, predicted that the caucus would approve the measure with few changes. Representatives Neeley, Ragsdale and Eagle will try to bring about the adoption of the proposed agricultural amendments, and also for directors of national banks and to prevent banks from loaning money to their officers. The caucus agreed to allow the bill to be brought before the agricultural committee, and also to allow the bill, one-half to be controlled by Chairman Glass and the other half by Representative Neeley of the "insurgent" forces. It is expected that the caucus will run throughout the week, as the bill will be read and debated section by section after the general debate is ended.

PATRIOTISM OF CATHOLIC

Archbishop Ireland Talks at Meeting

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 12.—Archbishop Ireland, before 200 dignitaries and 5000 laymen of the Catholic church, last night concluded the second day's session of the 12th annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies in session here, with an address on "Americanism and Catholicism."

The vast audience sitting in the auditorium paid close attention as he spoke of the patriotism of the American Catholics and at the same time condemned those who accused the Catholics of lack of patriotism.

When the archbishop, accompanied by Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee, took their places on the stage, the audience rose and gave the dignitaries an appreciative reception. Archbishop Messmer presided and introduced the speaker. A chorus of 400 voices, the aggregate of the Catholic choirs of the city, rendered the musical program.

Cardinal Gibbons was the guest of honor at several functions here yesterday, including receptions at the Milwaukee Press club, the Knights of Columbus and a dinner given by ex-Judge Paul Carpenter.

In accordance with the wishes of Archbishop Messmer, at yesterday's meeting, the women, it is predicted, will have suffrage from the sessions of the league, in the interest of harmony.

The third day's session of the convention opened with solemn requiem mass at St. Mary's church. A business meeting followed in one of the smaller halls of the auditorium at which time T. B. Minahan and the Rev. Jas. H. Cotter of Trenton, O., vice president of the Catholic Press association, spoke.

Historic Ebbett House in Washington Damaged by Blaze Today—Two Alarms Sounded

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Fire which started in an airshaft and broke through the roof of the historic Ebbett house shortly before 8 o'clock this morning created consternation among the guests but did little damage. A second alarm brought all the downtown fire apparatus and the blaze was soon under control.

2000 LYNCH NEGRO

Mob Broke Into Jail and Seized Prisoner

LAURENS, S. C., Aug. 12.—Protesting his innocence to the last, Richard Puckett, a young negro charged with attacking a young white woman of the community, was taken from the jail here early today and lynched. His swinging body afterward was perforated with bullets from the revolvers of more than 2000 men who composed the mob.

The sheriff declared Puckett had confessed his crime. The negro, just before he was lynched, protested his innocence. The mob overpowered the sheriff and his deputies, breaking down the jail door and tearing down the steel cage in which Puckett was confined.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 12.—Rioting broke out here last night as a result of labor difficulties of hotel waiters and telephone company employees. Although the telephone strike was officially declared settled four days ago, vandalism on the company's property and attacks on its employees were resumed.

A riot-call was sent to police headquarters from Nagel's restaurant. A mob of striking waiters and their sympathizers were dispersed by police, but no arrests were made.

THEATRE MANAGERS
IN POLICE COURTFor Violation of State Law—Are Business Partners But are Not on Speaking Terms

The case of the two proprietors of the Colonial Theatre, Samuel Orbach and Solomon Khyon, charged with admitting minors contrary to the state law governing the admission of boys under fourteen years of age to places of amusement, held the center of the police court stage this morning. The case was a long drawn out affair and went over to this afternoon.

The first witnesses called by the prosecuting officer, Supt. Welch, were the two boys, Tommie McIntyre and Leonard Foster, who it is alleged were allowed in the theatre operated by the two defendants. Both boys told the court they bought tickets and went into the Colonial theatre on the night of July 18th. They also identified the man who took their tickets and the girl from whom they purchased the same. The time was shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening, they said.

Had Been Warned

Officer Newman next was sworn in and took the witness stand. In answer to the questions put to him by Supt. Welch the officer stated that he had warned Orbach repeatedly about

About three hundred baseball fans journeyed out to Spaulding park this afternoon to witness the second game of the present series between Lowell and New Bedford. Henderson started the mound work for the local team with Daly behind the bat. Fuller and Kilhullen did the battery work for the Whalers. Aubrey was back in the Lowell lineup and Flannery was on the bench. Empire White acted in the capacity of decision maker. The lineup for today's game was as follows:

Lowell
Clemens, cf.
Miller, 2b.
DeGroat, if.
Macee, if.
Halstein, 1b.
Daly, c.
Aubrey, ss.
Dee, 3b.
Henderson, p.

In the first inning Henderson hit Sweett, but he was caught off first by the Lowell pitcher's quick throw. Spires and Kennedy both went out by the De-Halstein route.

Clemens drove a savage grounder to Dean who was unable to handle it. Miller sacrificed him and DeGroat hit a single to centre, scoring Clemens. Sweett was an easy out on his grounder and Halstein also grounded out.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0. New Bedford looked dangerous in the second. After Griffiths had fled out to DeGroat, Logan barked a bouncer over Dee's head. Henderson was wild and passed Dean. Torphy tied out to Halstein and Dean was out on a peculiar play. Halstein threw to Henderson who dropped the ball, but Miller was right behind and tagged him out when he overran the bag.

Only three men faced Fuller. Daly punted to Torphy. Aubrey was thrown out at first and Dee fouled into Kilhullen.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0. New Bedford tied up the score in the fourth. Spires grounded out to Dee. Kennedy tripped to deep-right centre. Griffiths fouled to Dee, but the latter fumbled Logan's hard grounder, allowing Kennedy to score. Dean walked and when Daly threw into centre field, Logan went to third. Clemens made the last put-out on a swell catch of Torphy's fly to centre.

Macee fled out to Kennedy. Halstein tied to Dee. Daly was passed. Griffiths came in and caught Aubrey's drive.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0. Lowell again took the lead in the fifth. Kilhullen fled out to Macee. Fuller struck out. Sweett drove a slashing single into right. Spires went out on a fly.

Dee was safe on his grounder which bouncer to first for Logan. Spires fumbled Henderson's bunt and both men were safe. Clemens laid down a perfect bunt which went for a hit but when Spires booted it Dee scored. Henderson was thrown out at third when Miller bunted to Fuller. DeGroat walked. Macee hit to Torphy and Clemens was thrown out at the plate. Kilhullen completed a double by shooting the ball to first ahead of Macee.

Score: Lowell 2, New Bedford 1. Kennedy started the sixth by grounding out to Miller. Griffiths singled to centre. Logan followed to Dee with a single left. Macee threw to Dee in vain attempt to catch Griffiths at third and Logan was out a second. Dee to Miller. Dean closed the inning by striking out.

Halstein opened Lowell's half with a terrific line drive to the left-centre field fence, and only fast fielding held him on third. Daly was an easy out. Aubrey scored Halstein with a beautiful sacrifice bunt. Fuller threw out Dee at first.

Score: Lowell 3, New Bedford 1.

BRISK BRUSH FIRE
Broke Out in Draught This Afternoon—Alarm From Box 275 Summoned Local Department

A rather brisk brush fire broke out in Draught in the latter part of the afternoon, and after the flames had been ravaging the district for some time, an alarm from box 275 was pulled in.

Several pieces of apparatus from the local department quickly responded, but when they arrived on the scene of the fire, it was found that the blaze was confined to the Draught district and, an all-out signal was given.

The fire which made rapid progress broke out on Butler's terrace on the summit of Moody street hill, just across the city line. The Draught department were called but at the time of going to press the blaze was still doing business.

ALLEGED WHITE
SLAVER ARRESTEDBy the Local Police — Was Turned Over to the United States Authorities This Afternoon

The local police department, especially Superintendent Redmond Welch were highly complimented by United States Marshals Cameron and Heiniz of Boston, on the recent arrest of Mitlades Kutsumakos, alias James Brown, who will be arraigned in the United States court on a charge of violating the white slave act. The prisoner was handed over to the two officers this afternoon and taken to Boston, where the case will be called. The young woman, who was arrested with Kutsumakos, is detained as an important witness by the government officers, but she will be let free as soon as the case is over, for her case in the local court was placed on file. Kutsumakos and his companion, who gave the name of Ethel High were arrested in the house numbered 27 Kirk street in a raid made by the local police headed by Supt. Welch on the evening of Aug. 2. The man was arraigned in court on a charge of conducting a disorderly house, and he was given the extreme penalty of the law, two years in the house of correction, from which sentence he appealed. The young woman, who belonged to a good family, had her case placed on file.

This morning Kutsumakos was brought to court on a habeas and withdrew his appeal; his sentence was revoked, and the prisoner was turned over to the United States marshals.

The police were highly complimented by the U. S. officers for arresting this man, for when they heard the circumstances of the case, they thought it to be one of the most pronounced violations of the slave act, that was ever brought to their attention. The officers said the local police have furnished the U. S. courts with two of the most glaring instances yet to come to their attention, the other case being that of Richards, who yesterday was held under $10,000 bonds by Judge Morton in the U. S. court at Boston.

Two Counts Against Him

Kutsumakos will be charged with two counts of violation of the white slave act, the extreme penalty of which is 10 years. The couple were arrested in a house opposite the high school, which had been under the surveillance of the police for the past few weeks. Two other women were arrested from this house and they were both sentenced to the state farm.

Supt. Welch, who is more or less responsible for the arrest of Richards and Kutsumakos, said this afternoon he will not tolerate any white slaver in this city and he believes the city is well rid of these law breakers.

him on third. Daly was an easy out. Aubrey scored Halstein with a beautiful sacrifice bunt. Fuller threw out Dee at first.

Score: Lowell 3, New Bedford 1.

IMPEACHMENT OF
GOVERNOR SULZERAssembly May Defer Its Action for Several Days—One Member Confers With Governor

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—When the hour came for the meeting of the assembly today to take up the matter of the proposed impeachment of Governor William Sulzer on charges of "willful and corrupt conduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors" there was doubt if those favoring that action would be able to muster the necessary 16 votes to carry the resolution. Appeals by telegram to members who were absent from last night's session had not met with the general response the anti-Sulzer leaders had hoped for. The constitution requires not less than a majority of all members elected to vote articles of impeachment, and last night's vote showed eleven less than the requisite number in favor of the Frawley report.

Gov. Sulzer Up Early

Governor Sulzer was at his office today a full hour earlier than usual and at noon, after a conference with his counsel, summoned six democratic assemblymen who voted last night for the adoption of the Frawley committee report. The governor's purpose in so

Commissioner Brown in order to show that he meant business when at this forenoon's meeting he referred to certain expense accounts filed in his department by Com. Barrett during the years of 1912 and 1913, called the newspapermen into his office at the close of the meeting and submitted the following figures for inspection:

January, fire, $3.85; water, $4.11; Feb. water, $14.25, fire, $4.25, March water, $6.70; fire, $6.70; April, fire, $5.55, water, $5.40; May, fire, $10.85, water, $3.60; June, fire, $6.60, water, $7.05; July, fire, $17.30, water, $13.40; Aug. fire, $5.35, water, $18.30; Oct. fire, $9.40, water, $11.20; Nov. water, $29, fire, $23; Dec. water, $5.20.

1913: Jan. water, $4.75, fire, $12; Feb. fire, $11, water, $8; March water, $10, fire, $9.25; April, water, $3.50, fire, $5.50; May, fire, $14.60, water, $10.35; June, fire, $17.50, water, $13.20; July, fire, $10.55; water, $15.35.

"These," he said, "are figures which appear on bills filed by Mr. Barrett and on which it is stated 'out-of-town expenses.' I will not accept any more of these bills," continued Mr. Brown, "unless they are itemized. I have received other expense accounts from Mr. Barrett and they are properly marked, now it is up to him to do the same with these out-of-town accounts."

Asked if he had anything to say on the matter, Mr. Barrett made the following statement: "I am willing at any time to supply the council with an itemized list of my expenses, but not Mr. Brown. This is purely an attempt on his part to throw cold water on my candidacy, for if it was not he would have mentioned this before, inasmuch as he says I have been filing these bills for the past two years. Why does the commissioner come with such a statement at the last minute, instead of several months ago?"

"My work in taking care of both the fire and water departments calls me out of town on several occasions and that means expenses. It is also often that I entertain engineers and other men in my line from out of town, and it is only natural that the city pay the expenses, especially when it has to do with the good of the departments. I have no account that I could immediately produce, but I can say that any expenditure on my part can at any time be accounted for. As I said I am willing at any time to file an itemized account with the council, but not with Mr. Brown."

Two New Dwellings

Owila Sawyer was today granted two permits for the construction of dwelling houses in Pawtucketville. Gould of the county commissioners, and Henry Woods, state keeper of records, to the effect that the steel vaults for the keeping of records in the police station are nearing completion, and if it is their pleasure to come and examine the said vaults, he will be pleased to show them around.

Fire Insurance Rates

Commissioner Barrett of the fire and water departments is endeavoring to have the fire insurance rates reduced in Lowell and accordingly he is to take the matter up with the Lowell board of trade, inasmuch as the commissioner is anxious to look into this matter as quickly as possible with his brethren of the board of trade, he has sent the following communication to the secretary of the board, Mr. John H. Murphy:

Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary, Lowell Board of Trade, Lowell:

Dear Sir: Having recently been appointed a member of the committee on insurance and fire protection, it seems advisable to me that a meeting of that committee should be called at an early date in order that we may consider the matter of fire insurance rates in the city of Lowell.

Will you kindly attend to this at your earliest convenience, and oblige,

Very truly yours,

Andrew E. Barrett,

Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

BIG NOON DAY MEETING

Many Machinists Join
New Local Lodge

Organizer Young who came to Lowell for the purpose of organizing the machinists here, is meeting with great success. At a noon day meeting addressed by him today at the Button street entrance to the Saco-Lowell shops the services of a policeman was necessary to keep the street clear.

"I am always glad to see a policeman around," said Mr. Young, "because we are anxious that law and order shall prevail at all times. I want to say, too, that in Lowell I have met the greatest courtesy on the part of all city officials from the mayor down, policemen included, and I am sure no act of mine will cause them to change their attitude towards me."

In his speech at the shop gates, Mr. Young dealt with the duties of American citizenship and said that through proper organization the laboring class was advanced to the position where they could better observe their duties. "Better wages, shorter hours and better shop conditions make better citizens," he said.

Mass meetings will be held in about all of the labor halls tonight and speakers have been assigned to the different halls. It is expected that at the meeting in Cotton Spinners hall in Middle street tonight temporary officers for the new local, for machinists, will be elected, and it is expected that the Merrimack Valley joint committee will be present. Over 300 applications for membership in the new local have already been received and it is expected that the number will reach 400 tonight.

BARRETT AND BROWN
HAVE AT IT AGAINClash at Council Meeting Over Petition
for Pension by Street Department
Employee

Things were pretty lively for some time at the regular meeting of the municipal council this morning, when Commissioners Barrett and Brown exchanged ideas relative to the pensioning of John P. Green, an employee of the street department, or at least one who was employed by the said department until 1912, and whom Commissioner Brown claims was granted a leave of absence. Commissioner Cumings, who presided in the absence of the mayor, who is spending the day at Bretton Woods, N. H., put the argument pretty short, and then Commissioner Brown spoke on the out-of-town expenses as filed in his department by Com. Barrett, saying he wished the council to order Mr. Barrett to itemize his bills in the future.

That Comfort Station

The city solicitor presented an opinion relative to the care of the comfort station in which he declared the station to be under the care of the mayor or as chief of the health department, but Com. Brown said he was opposed to this inasmuch as he felt the station inasmuch as he felt the station should be under the management of the commissioner of this department. Considerable routine matter was disposed of and the meeting adjourned till Friday morning.

The meeting was called to order at 11:05 o'clock by Commissioner Cum-

MAD DOG RAN AMUCK

Two Men and Many Animals Bitten

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The St. Bernard dog which terrorized Quincy, Dorchester, Ashmont and Milton yesterday bit two men, two cows, two dogs and a horse before being run down and shot. The dog was declared last night to have been suffering from rabies.

Examination of the dog was made by Dr. Francis Atlee, Jr., the Quincy city veterinarian. The dog was shot by Policeman Farrell of the Quincy force.

The men bitten are Christopher Kennedy, a Boston city employee living at 45 Beane avenue, Ashmont, and David A. Spiers, a street car conductor. Spiers was nearly dragged from the running board of his car in Mattapan by the animal's attack.

With huge mouth, red and foaming, the dog snarled and attacked men and animals in his path from Mattapan through Ashmont, Dorchester, Milton and Quincy. All the day and into the evening police from each of these sections warned residents against the peril and chased in all manner of conveyances through the streets in an effort to halt the canine.

The chase after the animal was injured

AUTOS IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Seven Injured on the Revere Boulevard

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—In a terrible head-on crash between two automobiles on Revere parkway, near the Fellsway, Medford, last evening, seven people were hurt. Two of them are perhaps fatally injured. All concerned were taken to the Malden hospital.

The two worst injured are Marie Kerfo, 22, of 17 Blisworth avenue, Cambridge, and Bertha Pelletier, 18, the Astoria street, Cambridge. They had several sutures taken in their wounds and besides are in a highly hysterical condition.

Patrick J. Cummings, 121 Farron street, Brighton, driver of one of the cars, is suffering from internal injuries. The other victims were slightly

BABAISTS WIN FIGHT

Lie Passed—Court Action Threatened

ELIOT, Me., Aug. 12.—Turbulence featured by the passing of the "high-handed" proceeding annulled. But their determination, expressed in a mighty though discordant chorus of voices, saved not their opponents.

Nine trustees were elected following the departure of the antis. They will endeavor to assume control of the Green Acre properties and to direct the expenditure of Mrs. Helen Cole's $12,500 legacy for a building which the antis claim is planned to be a pagan temple. This attempt will be the basis of a request for a court injunction.

Strife held away from the moment the rival hosts formally opened their session until the antis retreated from the impromptu battlefield.

Doggedly and vehemently the antis fought the policies of the Bahaists. But they were beaten from the moment the first gun was fired.

DUTIES OF LOBBYIST MULHALL

Defined to Senate Committee by James A. Emery of National Association of Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—James A. Emery, chief representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, here, defined to the senate committee today the duties of Martin M. Mulhall who claimed to be that association's lobbyist.

"Mulhall kept me supplied with copies of bills and public documents in relation to the work here and got information of the status of legislation in which we were interested. In this work he gathered information and learned the views of members of congress. He made inquiries about hearings and requested an opportunity for me to appear," said Emery.

Emery denied flatly that Henry Neal and Harry Parker, two negro employees at the capitol, were in the pay of the manufacturers. Mulhall swore that for almost a year Emery gave each month a $100 check, of which $50 was to go to I. H. McMichael, one-time chief page of the house, and $50 went to Parker and Neal. Emery denied he ever drew such a check. He declared Mulhall told him he had a friend at the capitol who could get the public documents and bills. Later

PARAGUAY ACCEPTS BRYAN'S PEACE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Paraguay, through Minister Hector Valerquez, today accepted in principle Secretary Bryan's peace plan. Thirty-nine nations were to consider the proposal and 25 have accepted it in principle. One treaty actually has been signed. It is with Salvador.

Emery learned the friend was McMichael. Emery testified, however, that he did draw a check for $50, sent it to Mulhall and told him to divide it between Neal and Parker, "merely to pay for the many courtesies they performed for our members."

"Did you ever make any payments to Mulhall for McMichael?" asked Attorney McCarter for the manufacturers. "Yes," said the witness. "It never amounted to $20 and it terminated when I left for Europe in 1910."

"Too absurd to contemplate," said Emery when McCarter asked him about the secret room in the capitol that Mulhall swore was furnished to the association by Congressman McDermott of Illinois.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Dept. of Agriculture Asked to Investigate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Co-operation in marketing with a view to lessening the high cost of living seems to have taken such a hold on the people of the United States that the department of agriculture is being inundated with requests from such co-operative organizations for an investigation of their individual merits. So great has the pressure become that the department announced today it would not contemplate the recommendation of any special system and would not proceed now with its work on that line.

The department, it was disclosed, has not yet fully organized its new bureau of markets, which is designed to organize and systematize the economical distribution of food between the producer and the consumer. In its announcement it is set forth that no less than 64 applicants for the position of specialist in co-operative organization disclosed their qualifications and that the civil service commission would require some time to make a recommendation.

ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA

Russian in Boston, Ordered Deported

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Ernest Jaumsem, a Russian newspaper man arrived here from Hamburg last Friday on the steamship "Cincinnati," has been ordered deported by the immigration officials who deem him "highly undesirable and unquestionably inimicable to the best interests of the United States."

Since his arrival Jaumsem has been detained at the immigration station. While the immigration board has been investigating his case, Attorney George Roemer has been working in the interest of the journalist. Roemer, who last night sent an appeal from the local board's decision to the commissioner of labor at Washington, said he would bring the case before the United States district court if defeated.

When questioned by the immigration officials upon his arrival here, Jaumsem said he had escaped from prison in Siberia, where he was serving a 5-year term as a political criminal. The newspaper man was imprisoned, he said, because he had written in favor of a democratic form of government for Russia. Jaumsem is 30 years old and married.

CHELSEA IS WITH US

Tax Rate There Jumps 40 Cents a Thousand

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The tax rate of Chelsea for this year will be $21.50, an increase of 40 cents over the tax rate of last year. This increase is smaller than was expected by many.

When Mayor Willard took office this year he was confronted with an overdraft of about $25,000, an increase of $17,000 in the school requirements, an increase in the salaries of the police and fire departments, both of which were voted by the citizens of Chelsea at the last municipal election, and an increase in the state tax of $14,290.51. During the year Mayor Willard made a cut of about $6000 in salaries, and also voted several increase orders which had been passed by the aldermen.

This year, according to the report of the assessors, there has been a gain of $850,300 in the real estate valuation and a loss of $250,500 in personal.

He emphasized the importance of segregation and of the sterilizing of all clothing worn by lepers.

RAIN BRINGS DROP IN TEMPERATURE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A general rain that brought a material drop in temperature is sweeping over practically the entire country today east of the Rocky mountains, except the great middle west corn belt where it is most needed.

In the region including Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Southern Illinois and part of Arkansas where there have been no rains for several weeks, the corn crop is practically burning up and weather bureau officials see no immediate prospect for relief.

Along the Atlantic coast and throughout the Great Lake region there has been a drop of 37 degrees since Sunday.

in diseases of the ear," was the subject of a paper by Dr. Clarence Blake of Boston in the Otolaryngology section. He mentioned as an instance that intubers were especially prone to ear diseases because of the dust and detritations in a circumscribed space without the possibility of diffusion.

Arthur H. Cheate, lecturer on otitis media at Kings college hospital called attention to the deafness associated with aeroplaning, and said much would be heard on this subject in the future. Three factors, he said, were conducive to this form of occupational deafness—height, speed and the noise of the motor.

40 MILE RUN TO MARBLEHEAD

New York Yacht Club
Fleet Race for Cup
Offered by Pratt

Racing Fleet, Smaller
Than in Former Years

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Aug. 12.—

The breadth of Massachusetts Bay before the New York Yacht Club fleet as it made sail today for the 40-mile run to Marblehead with the cups offered by Commodore Dallas E. Pratt, as the chief incentive for the sport. The racing fleet was a small one, being reduced to half a dozen schooners, eight 50-footers and three or four sloops, while the power division was made up of six large steam yachts and a score of power boats.

The wind in the harbor this morning was light from the northeast, and the yachts were ready for racing work for the course from Wood End to Marblehead rock is northwest. The commodore ordered the fleet out of the harbor at 9 o'clock and the regatta committee announced that the start would be made by an hour later of Long Point buoy. As it was but a short run there, the sloops took the start, and the power boats were under way before 9:45. The weather was wonderfully clear and from the base of the Monument it was possible to see the whole shore line of the bay from Truro to the fourth cliff at Setauket. The racing fleet made sail with the yachts and several of the fast flyers waited outside of Long Point for an hour or more in the hope of getting up a brush with some of the schooners of yacht club along the shore. The visit of the New York fleet in Provincetown this summer was particularly welcomed by the townspeople despite the fact that the number of yachts was smaller than was anticipated.

Welcome Fleet

In former years the town has been enlivened by the north Atlantic squadron but up to the present time there has been scarcely a war vessel of any description inside of Long Point. Trade has therefore suffered, although the increasing tide of excursionists has brought thousands of dollars to the little city at the end of the cape. The yachtsmen proved good patrons this year and for several hours before the fleet sailed today the big power boats of the fish and provision dealers of the town were running about the fleet, delivering orders like so many market wagons.

The owners of the 50-footers were very keen to get back in the racing after two days of enforced idleness and there were numerous side wagers among the skippers to say nothing of a number of private pools on the outcome of the day's run.

Many Challenge Cup

The run today completes the events for the cups offered by the flag officers of the club. Tomorrow the yachts race in Massachusetts Bay for the "many challenge" cups and the fleet at Gloucester, while on Thursday in the final run of the cruise back to Marblehead the yachts will race for the cups offered by the alumni association.

The main spring of the New York Yacht club cruise this year, as in the past six years, has been Fleet Capt. Franklin C. Plummer. The officer is an aptly named man, for the commodore and Captain Plummer has held it under three successive officials.

The New York club drafted him from the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club of Oyster Bay in 1905, when Commodore James hearing of his unusual executive ability, induced him to help out the older club.

Since 1905 has been the cruise of 1909 that not only did Commodore James reappoint Captain Plummer the following year, but Commodore Platt continued him in office in 1911 and 1912 and Commodore Pratt retained him this year.

Interest in Cruise

The fleet captain in a cruise is the executive officer to the commodore and practically directs the fleet before and after the racing. Scarcely has the fleet anchored than a launch with the white and blue anchor of "Mr. Platt" is seen darting from one yacht to another, welcoming the newcomers, speeding the departing yacht, arranging impromptu races, issuing invitations to dinners and receptions and making everyone happy and contented. Captain Plummer is so energetic in his endeavors to keep up the interest in the cruise that some of his friends insist on calling him "Mr. Platt."

One of the older members of the New York Yacht club who has been away for some years, has been on the cruise this year and has had his first experience in a motor-propelled yacht. He looked over the big fleet at Newport the other day and was taken out on one of the fast auto launches for a spin up the bay. After being whirled along at a 20-mile an hour gait, he was brought back and landed on one of the sailing sloops.

"How do you like it?" asked the skipper.

"Well," drawled the old-timer, over his shoulder, "it was great fun, but it wasn't sport. I guess I will stick on this ship tomorrow," and he did. The next day his friend's big schooner was one of the leaders in Vineyard Haven after a grand run from Newport.

"That's what I call both fun and sport," said the gray-haired yachtsman.

Start in Smaller Classes

The start was made by the smaller classes of sloops at 10:10, the only contenders being the P boat Windward and the Boston Knockabout Dorella. The Shima, flagship of the Eastern Yacht club, and the Avenger were the next away with the latter in the lead. Six 50-footers were then sent off, the Barbara, Pleione, Grayling, Sumara, Iroquois and Acushla in the order named.

Then came the schooners, the starters in the smallest division being the Venosa and Derfish followed five minutes later by the Katrina, Muriel and Lorraine, the last named yacht having sent up a new fore topmast in place of the one carried away on Saturday.

The Ariel, Sea Fox, Corona, Encymlion and Iroliwa were sent off at 10:35. The run along the cape shore to Wood End was broad of the wind and was made very quickly. Once around that sandy point sheets were flattened a bit for the reach across the bay for Marblehead. By noon the entire fleet was well away from Race Point and the boats were heading across for the finish with every prospect of the leaders reaching Marblehead Rock by mid-afternoon.

$5000 STAKE FOR PACERS

Fast Horses Entered in

Detroit Races

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 12.—Some of the fastest so-called green pacers that ever met in a race were entered in the Chamber of Commerce $5000 stake for 2 1/2 furlongs, the main attraction of today's grand circuit card. Letta J., with a mark of 2:03, stake winner at Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, was pitted against Frank Bogash, Jr., whose last race gave him a mile in 2:03 1/2; Stebbins Lad, Princess Margaret, Edith C. and Tom King.

A noteworthy fact in connection with this stake was the absence of Geers entry. The veteran driver has not the event over time; no other driver ever captured it more than once.

Other events on the program were the 240 foot 1000, in which the wonderful colt Etawah was entered against aged horses; the 215 pace for a purse of $3000 and the 2:15 trot for a purse of $1000.

Winners Will Get Place on American

Team That Will Meet German Boats

in Big Race

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 12.—Sonder yachts which are to contend for places on the American team that will meet the German boats off here in the international contest next month are being tried out daily for the elimination events, scheduled to begin next Saturday.

The sonsiders include the Otter, Ellen, Clima and Harpoon. The Otter, owned and sailed by C. H. W. Foster, probably will retain her cat rig instead of adopting the conventional Jib with mainsail of less area. The Harpoon is an unknown quantity, but yachtsmen believe her owner, C. F. Adams, 2d, will work the new boat into splendid form.

The rigging of the German sonder, the Angeln, at the Wittichs, 11, and the Serim, is proceeding rapidly. The boats soon will be ready for their workouts in these waters preliminary to the September contests.

CHRISTO COMES BACK

Joe Christo, Lowell's marathon runner, is training for the big race to be run at the 32d annual field day and carnival of the Court Granite State No. 1, F. of A. at Manchester, N. H. next Saturday afternoon. Joe avers that he will be in the pink of condition, having eliminated the use of the American Red Cross. He is out to bring home the bacon and since his victory at St. Anthony's reunion, Joe's stock has taken a big jump. He will run against a field of the best men in New England.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

The split ball used by Reiger made it hard for the felders to handle the sphere yesterday but still that did not excuse Dec from getting Flannery's throw even if it was a poor one. Just how slippery the ball was could be seen when it slipped out of Tom Daly's hand and rolled toward first base when Wood was on second. Wood easily made third.

Haltstein made several great pickups yesterday and played his conservative game at first. Jack was also right on the job in the ninth when he cracked a hot single into center after Magee had reached first in the same manner.

Aubrey is the kind of a ball player we all like to see. With his rival at bat in the fifth and himself on the first base coaching lines Aubrey encouraged the youngster into connecting for a hit.

Worcester will play a double header tomorrow and Lawrence also will take part in a double performance at Spaulding Park on Thursday. These two double-headers should draw a crowd that will tax the seating capacity of the park.

Jawn O'Brien got his in the first of the seventh when he disputed Kilbullen's out at first. Jawn had been kicking throughout the game and timorly White wasted no words with him on this occasion but pulled out his match at once when he ordered him off the field.

Red Rorty was certainly an unpopular personage down Portland way yesterday. Red banished Hickman from the game and the bleacherites descended upon him in their wrath. Nothing but the presence of a squad of police saved the doughty little ump from a bad mauling.

Yesterday is the first game that Dec has safely in for the last five home contests. Shortly has also been going back badly in the field of late. Take a brace, Dec, and show us some of your early season work.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

MARKET ACTIVE DURING THE EARLY HOURS OF TODAY

Initial Transactions on Lower Scale Than in Several Weeks—Numerous Issues Rose—Closed Strong

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Pronounced activity and strength were shown by today's market. Initial transactions being on a larger scale than for some weeks past. The buying which set in toward yesterday's close, was continued and the demand seemingly embraced not only the active group, but many lesser issues. Steel, which led yesterday's rise, was backward at first, but soon resumed prominence, though losing part of its advance. Steel, Northern Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Washab, preferred, Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland, all of which gained a point, while Denver preferred rose two. Among industrials, rubber was up one and General Chemical lost one. Among foreign stocks, too strong, however, and recessions were soon recorded.

For the further rise in stocks today several plausible reasons were advanced, among these being the financial crop market, the relief of any strain at this center and the widespread belief that various underwritings now under way or in prospect make higher quotations desirable. Whatever the reason, however, which in the first hour gave promise of a more liberal investment demand, greater activity and scope than for some time. Steel, Reading and Union Pacific led the rise, Steel being especially prominent for the huge blocks that changed hands. In addition to the leading railroads numerous industrials rose from one to two points.

Bonds were steady. In spite of steady realizing no impression was made on prices which averaged a higher level in the afternoon after some hesitation at mid-day. The freedom with which Steel, Union Pacific and Reading were absorbed pointed to a market in which more potential than short covering, though the bear faction was undergoing severe punishment. Buying bore the familiar signs of accumulation for the first time in weeks, reported by a fairly liberal investment demand. Active trading was renewed, although in the large volume of the first hour.

The market closed strong. Traders resorted to the usual method of diverting attention from persistent profit taking by advancing special stocks. Canadian Pacific rose two points above yesterday's close and some of the low priced international stocks also were advanced. Meanwhile large blocks of leading stocks were steadily sold, Steel, Union Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley, St. Paul and Amalgamated receding from one and one half to half their best prices.

PEACEFUL AND QUIET IN MEXICO

State Department Receives a

Gratifying Message From

Charge O'Shaughnessy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Charge

O'Shaughnessy cabled the state department today that the situation in Mexico City was peaceful and quiet.

His message was gratifying to administrators.

The presentation of a note representing the views of President Wilson is expected soon but the various story in the American government's plan will be carried out gradually. The first note will be transmitted in duplicate to all foreign governments represented here and will declare for the first time in formal terms the attitude of the administration toward Mexico.

Administration officials who are hoping the European countries will lead their moral support to the efforts to adjust the Mexican situation peacefully were favorably impressed with the statement of the British government that the recognition of Huerta had been only a recognition of a provisional president, pending an election, and was done on the theory that it was "likely to assist in the restoration of order."

The added comment from the British government that France and Germany had recognized President Huerta

after the American ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson, had made a congratulatory speech at a reception giving to President Huerta, to the diplomatic corps, was received as further strengthening the view of President

Wilson that the American ambassador had been a personal factor in the situation.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

SUICIDE AT 16

In Baltimore last week two girls, one of them 16 years of age, the other 17, agreed to die together and carried out their compact by taking deadly poison. This is not the first of such shocking cases and unfortunately it will not be the last. In the communities where such things happen they must produce a feeling of astonishment as great as the feeling of horror by which they are regarded. To those who read of such suicides in far away places the realization must come that they are far from common; it is to be feared that their number is on the increase. Even the most hardened of mortals must be shocked at such evidences of despair in the hearts of the young for whom life should be an unexplored garden of delight.

No matter how much we regret the self-inflicted death of a mature man or woman we can generally understand the feeling of despair that prompted the act in many cases the circumstances surrounding it take away part of the blame. When age lays her heavy hand on the activities; when the awful anguish of disillusion is borne in on a crushed spirit; when death robs a weak mortal of some balm that was extremely dear; when sickness or trouble presses a thorn crown on the weary brain of one who has striven and striven in vain, sometimes the burden of overwhelming sorrow becomes too heavy to bear and the frenzied soul seeks relief in death from a burden that it could not seemingly shake off otherwise. Indeed in many cases we cannot tell whether reason had any part in the terrible deed of self destruction. Before a realization of great calamity the mind sometimes reels into the miserable victim is not responsible for what may follow.

But how different it is in the case of the young. Youth has its troubles but they are transitory. It sometimes tastes prematurely the bitterness of defeat, the sense of sickening failure that comes with ruined hopes and fallen castles. But it is only climbing the road that leads to maturity; over the hill is all the golden promise of the future to a normal mind. The bud is the presage of the flower, the rivulet is the great river that is to be, the young are the promise of the men and women of the morrow. When then we see them deliberately turn their backs on life and time, facing in cowardly courage the darkness of the unknown, seeking by gun or gas or poison to bring oblivion on an existence they have found unbearable so young, we may well pause horrified and ask "Why do they despair at 16?" Judging from newspaper reports most of those who commit suicide at an early age are girls. Is it not possible then that society is responsible for having created a type of young woman that was formerly unknown? The Baltimore Sun commenting on the double suicide in that city recently states that the evolution of the modern young woman is responsible. We are familiar with the frequent comments on the disappearance of the innocent young lady of 16 and 17 and the growing up of a forward, abnormal creature "young in years but old in worldly wisdom," who has lost all the charm of innocent girlhood—if she ever possessed it. The result is graphically described in the Baltimore Sun in the following sentences:

Whatever may be the cause, the fact remains that we have among us a new and advanced girl as well as a new and advanced woman, and that the world and society are not gaining anything by the substitution of this type for the former one. When every sweet illusion has been destroyed at the outset of life, when we know all that is to be known, when we have plunged, with no preparation, into all the mysteries and secrets, what is more logical than to view up at 16 or 17 with the conviction that it is a very bad and bitter world, that there is nothing else in it than unhappiness and sorrow, and that it is better to end all at once than to continue the hopeless tragedy?

UNION

In this nation of teachers, preachers and orators it is not surprising that we should sometimes tire of hearing that good is good and bad is bad. Plain truths become blunt from repetition; they fall on ears accustomed to hear them as the admonitions of elders too often fall on the ears of children. We listen to a splendid sermon or an oratorical flight of fancy and though we are momentarily elevated and transported we go our ways forgetful and unheeding. But sometimes a teacher or preacher or orator says an old thing in a new and convincing fashion that gives the truth all the charm of novelty. Such an address was made on Sunday by Cardinal Gibbons speaking before the delegates of the convention of federations of Catholic societies in Milwaukee, Wis. Many former addresses of the beloved and distinguished churchman have received wide circulation and the following paragraph is also worthy of being generally read and considered at this time when domestic peace has made its lessons unfamiliar at home and when the chaotic condition of Mexico and the recent wars in the Balkan states show the need for the application of it abroad.

"Union is the law of life, of strength and growth and of development. Disunion is the law of weakness and disintegration. The American republic owes its material and political prosperity to the union and co-operation of the several states. If these states were disunited, and exerting their forces in opposite directions like the present republic of Mexico, we would never have attained the prosperity that has marked our career. For four years, during Civil war, we were disunited; and the result was shedding of fratricidal blood, with imminent danger of the dissolution of the nation."

The Cardinal was referring especially to the union of religious and moral forces in the development of Christianity, but the lessons of his address are too broad for sectional interpretation. In the above paragraph he speaks of the union that has made of America a great nation, the union that must be preserved in its entirety if this country is to continue in its successful march upward and onward—the union of the states and all the men in them for the cause of justice and righteousness. This is the union back of the "new freedom" which unfortunately in the good American fashion has been taken largely as a joke.

CURRENCY REFORM BILL

The currency bill which has gone before the democratic house causes today promises to usurp the place of importance until now held by the tariff bill. But the passage of the tariff legislation to its present stage gives no evidence of the fate that awaits the bill for monetary reform. There is a strong opposition among many of the democrats towards its consideration at the present extra session and on the other hand it is to be supported by many prominent legislators of other parties. The president is still as firm as ever in his desire to have it acted on without delay and his insistence seems to be grounded on the assurance that it will pass the house at least without material change.

The true fact seems to be that there is a very good chance of the bill becoming law at this special session. For the last twenty years or so the need of reform in our banking and currency system has been apparent, but it has been difficult to secure unanimity of action or public co-operation sufficient to secure its passage. It is not at all certain that the present attitude will continue and while the people favor the project as a whole and when there is a good chance to bring about the desired change or at least some degree of improvement, it might be well to avail of it.

Objection to it, whether by Senator Hitchcock or others, is usually based on the alleged confusion that it is liable to entail before it is entirely successful in operation. Some consider that the country will have sufficient trouble in meeting the new conditions imposed by the tariff bill without having a counter irritant in the currency bill. Supporters of the currency bill, on the other hand, aver that possible tariff bill confusion is all the greater reason for the passage of the currency measure. The confusion, if there is any, will have to be faced sooner or later if currency reform is to be introduced and its supporters declare that the sooner it is over, the better. Things will speedily shape themselves so that it will be easy to see which argument has prevailed in the national capital.

JEWEL ROBBERIES

The reported disappearance of jewels to the value of $300,000 from Narragansett Pier and a more recent robbery of jewels valued at $5000 from Kennebunkport will not come home with crushing force to most of us to whom a few trifles in gold or precious stones are luxuries, but it will arouse astonishment that people will take such expensive ornaments on vacation for personal adornment. To those who go through the strenuous ordeal of a bejeweled social season it should surely be a rest to place their glittering ornaments of value in a safety deposit vault and seek the change and comparative quiet of vacation free from the worry of the possession of so much jewelry entails. As such things are not usually worn in vacation or when picking blueberries, we presume the ladies who mourn their losses had made plans for a strenuous vacation in which social distinction was not to be forgotten for one little hour. After all there is some consolation—even if it is a sore grape one—in the fact that our jewels are the least of our worries. We may not resemble the Queen of Sheba or Solomon in all his glory in the winter time of balls and grand opera, but we can look at the face of the blue water in summer without being reminded that we carelessly left our sapphires there on the top of the rocky grand in the music room.

Seen and Heard

If ignorance really is bliss, the bliss of some people must be beyond expression.

No girl likes to dance with a man who apparently acts in accordance with the principle of not letting his right foot know what his left foot is doing.

A man really doesn't need to ask his wife what she has bought when she comes home tired from a hard day's shopping. He has only to wait until the beginning of the next month, and then he will find out in a dull.

The man who has a far-fetched overcoat is looked on without the slightest feeling of envy by his friends in August.

If a good tailor is also a good bill collector, he stands a good chance of accumulating wealth.

More man never gets over his astonishment at woman's faculty of glancing at a two-inch sample and knowing just how her new gown is going to look.

If a man takes seven bottles of patent medicine to cure his rheumatism, without noticeable improvement and without complaint, the neighbors may feel that they are justified in thinking that there is humor in it.

Even if a man in politics fails to get the office that he wants, he can get the small ad page is always open to him.

The homely girl may make even a better wife than the pretty girl—if she gets a chance.

Certainly six hours of sleep is enough for anyone, if he only has it often enough.

A great many men talk glibly about the Monroe doctrine who would be in trouble if they were called upon to explain it.

When a girl lends a young man a book with pencil marks at the sides of a lot of sentimental passages, it is time for him to be careful what he says and does.

It always causes a great deal of grief when a young man starts in to learn to play a cornet if he lives in a crowded neighborhood.

Sometimes when the line is busy and the telephone girl tells you in response to your request that she will call you, she actually does.

Another advantage that a woman has over a man is that a man doesn't have a hairpin when he wants to read an uninteresting magazine on the street car.

The angry man, who, going home at night, writes down the offending street car conductor's number on an envelope generally thinks better of it in the morning.

SIZED UP

The new folks in the house next door are moving in today. I peeked and saw the stuff the men were taking off the dory. Say, honestly, it'd be ashamed of furniture like that. It really wasn't good enough. For a nine-dollar lot.

The rugs were cheap, and frayed, and worn. The dressing-case was marred. The parlor set was out of date. And everything was soiled. Really, a hundred-dollar bill would more than buy it all.

They may be good, kind, pleasant folks. But I'm not going to call! —Somerville Journal.

Excellent Summer Hotels in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado

Each year Colorado becomes more and more the summer playground, not only for our own people, but for those who come from abroad.

One reason is that in addition to the marvelous health giving climate, and the joy of living that one feels in Colorado, the people there have been wise in establishing thoroughly good and comfortable hotels, boarding-houses and ranch houses, where visitors can live on the fat of the land and even in luxury if that is demanded.

We have books and maps and pamphlets describing Colorado and telling in detail about these living places, the prices charged. Will you allow me to ask you for further detailed information about Colorado, for it is my duty and pleasure to assist in making plans for Colorado outings. No charge. It is part of the Burlington Route (C. & N. Y. R. R.) service. Just let me know that you are interested.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Refusing to Vote

Lawrence Eagle: The right of suffrage is indeed a kindly right, secured to the people of this and other republics at the cost of many sacrifices and much bloodshed. It is a priceless heritage, handed down to us by the patriots who starved and froze at Valley Forge, and gave their lives on many a bloody battlefield. The sovereign citizen of these United States who voluntarily absents himself from the polls is as certainly abdicating his sovereignty as any appointed ruler who steps down from his throne and hands over his scepter to another.

Tariff Delay

Newport News: Senator Lippitt's speech charging responsibility in the preparation of the tariff bill has stirred up a great deal of feeling among the southern senators, who are preparing replies. It is possible that these will be so numerous that the date for a final vote on the measure will be delayed beyond present expectations. All predictions of an early passage of the bill are mere guesswork. The majority leaders realize that, notwithstanding the fact that they have set a new record in pushing consideration of this measure, only a beginning has been made and the earliest any one will see promise completion of the task is Sept. 15.

Mutual

Fall River Globe: No sooner did Col. Mulhall escape from the indignities of the senate committee than he was put on the rack by a like committee of house investigators. The poor man is being worked by these congressional inquisitors much harder, and with far less profit to himself, than he was by the National Association of Manufacturers when he was on the lobby job for that organization.

Will Run Slower

Christian Science Monitor: The Long Island railroad is going to run slower trains. It has discovered that most of the people who use it have plenty of time to allow for the exercise of common sense in the matter of speed. Is not this the case with the patrons of practically all the railroads? And is it not the case with practically all the automobiles? And is it not the case with practically all the automobilists?

Goldenrod

Lowell Sun: The goldenrod begins to look more at its case than it did in July. Somehow the reason is never late that the goldenrod doesn't arrive too early. Nobody wants to see "autumn" written legibly on the river bank in mid-summer, even if the letters are fretted gold all finished off with shining links and curls. But the goldenrod usually has the impudence to begin those writing exercises before the last load of hay has creaked away toward the barn.

Everybody Interested

Portland Express: An exchange notes that the whole country wants to vote when New York elects a mayor, which is another way of saying that the country generally believes in good government and would like to have its hand in procuring it, even for the New Yorkers.

Some Speed

Woonsocket Call: A Frenchman recently flew at the rate of 130 miles an hour without break or mishap of any kind. A speed of 130 miles an hour, even more, is not a wild dream. The aeroplanists of the future will probably make a common thing of such flying some day. He may do even better—we rather suspect that he will. The world is to do some things it is capable of. It is nothing to strain the credulity. And it would be unnecessary to expatiate upon the beauties which such a voyage would unfold.

He Must Speak

Manchester Union: A point has now been reached in the war between Tammany and Governor Hughes that it is in which the latter must vindicate himself or stand as the most sordid and discredited of present-day politicians. His side of the story has not yet been heard. It has been only fair for the public to suspend judgment. But it must be obvious to the governor that he can no longer maintain silence and retain public confidence or the respect of his supporters.

One Headlum Punished

Lynn Telegram: The Lynn Telegram extends its congratulations to the man who administered a real spanking to a young boy who threw a stone at a passing automobile yesterday on Stewart street. It was fit punishment for the boy and one that should be repeated as often as the deed is committed. The man, who is unknown to the Telegram, did exactly the proper thing under the circumstances, and while he earned the wrath of the mother of the boy, he gained the hearty commendation of the persons who were walking on the street at the time and who witnessed the throwing of the stone and the subsequent punishment of the youngster.

HOW MRS. BROWN SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

All our testimonials are guaranteed genuine and truthful. The original of each came to us entirely unsolicited. They are sincere expressions of gratitude for the benefits received from the medicine.

NOT WHITE SLAVER

Florence Welcome Liberated by Government

Florence Welcome, the 17-year-old Lowell girl who was arrested with Arthur H. Richards, on charges of conspiracy to violate the white slave law has been discharged by United States Commissioner Hayes, the government withdrawing the charge against her. Richards was arraigned before Judge Morton in the United States district court, yesterday, and was committed to await the action of the grand jury.

The Welcome girl at first took her arrest very much to heart, and while waiting to be arraigned in police court in this city took poison. Her life was saved by prompt action on the part of the medical authorities. After she was arraigned in Boston she was sent to a hospital for treatment. Interested parties have the young woman in their care at present.

The discharge of Florence Welcome was due to an investigation by the government, which disclosed the fact that she was not the instigator of an alleged plan to lure two young girls from New Hampshire for immoral purposes. During the late campaign against vice in Nashua, N. H., she took a prominent part in substantiating the testimony of the detectives as to violations of the law in various resorts in the city. Her testimony regarding conditions shocked the community and led to the cleaning up of the city.

DAY CLOSE BEACH

Lawrence Attorney Threatens to Punt the Ed on Salisbury—Tilt in Amesbury Court

Declaring that if cottagers at Salisbury beach who are having trouble over rental continue to force them to bring legal proceedings he might close the beach to the public, Atty. Walter Coulson of Lawrence, one of the Associates, had a lively tilt in the Amesbury police court with Atty. Essex S. Abbott of Haverhill who appeared as counsel for Mrs. Sarah E. Dewhurst of Methuen, charged with criminal trespass.

Atty. Abbott, during the hearing and arguments before Judge Anthony Reddy, asserted that the proceedings brought by the Salisbury Beach Associates are without precedent. In this commonwealth and declared that if an action was instituted it should have been by civil process and not criminal. He also stated that Mrs. Dewhurst intends to fight the case to the limit and if necessary carry it to the supreme judicial court or to the United States supreme court. After the evidence in the case had been introduced Judge Reddy withheld his decision until Monday, Aug. 25 for the purpose of looking up the law in the matter.

OUR SALT SUPPLY

is a Very Liberal One—Not Dependent on Any Foreign Country For Any Portion of It

The production of salt in the United States, including Hawaii and Porto Rico, in 1912, according to an advance report from "Mineral Resources, 1912," on the production of salt and bromine, by W. C. Phalen, of the United States Geological Survey, was 2,324,508 barrels of 250 pounds each, or 4,649,016 short tons, valued at $2,127,772, which was a gain of nearly 7 per cent. in quantity and of nearly 13 per cent. in value compared with 1911.

In addition to the domestic production of salt, amounting to 2,324,508 barrels, 598,864 barrels were imported. These importations were in part offset by exports amounting to 463,755 barrels, leaving an excess of imports over exports of 552,873 barrels. This figure added to the domestic production brings the total salt consumed up to 3,357,657 barrels, which is a substantial increase of 2,027,855 barrels over the consumption in 1911. The imports were 2.9 per cent. of the domestic consumption for the year, a fraction less than the corresponding ratio for 1911. Thus the United States supplied 97.1 per cent. of the salt consumed during the year.

This country is not dependent on any foreign country for any portion of its salt supply, as the capacity of its active mines and manufacturing plants is greatly in excess of the present output. There are many plants running at less than full capacity, while some are now idle which could readily resume operations when trade conditions warrant. The report cited may be obtained without cost on application to the Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

ALL U.S. NATIONAL BANKS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the statement of the condition of all national banks of the United States at the close of business Saturday, August 8.

If you are a doctor, doesn't it pain you to see your patients, after walking up two or three flights, come into your office completely exhausted? Wouldn't it be better to provide an office in a building where your patients would be carried right up to your office door in an easy running and absolutely safe elevator? The new Sun building provides such a service. Think it over, doctor!

Merrimack Square Theatre
"Graustark," such is the title of the five-act drama from the pen of George Barr McCutcheon and Grace Hayward, which is being presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. Yesterday was opening day for the new company and the audience which greeted the performers was very large and enthusiastic.

This masterpiece is being presented by the Merrimack Square Theatre Players, Grace Young and Walter Scott Weeks, supported by an able company. The first and second performances were a real success and but words of praise could be heard from the many spectators who flocked into the theatre in the afternoon and evening.

"Graustark" is a play that is sure to please all theatregoers. There is action to the piece and a dash of humor that is entirely pleasing. The play is not entirely new to those who follow the drama closely, but nevertheless it is one of those pieces that is always welcome.

The leading part is sustained by Grace Young, who in interpreting the role of Yvette is artistic in every way while her dressing is of the pleasing character which is sure to make a hit, especially with the women folks. Messrs. Weeks and Scott also appear to advantage and their work in this difficult piece is very commendable. The other players who also deserve considerable credit for the fine interpretation of "Graustark" are as follows: John Charles, Margaret Moore, Marie Reels, Evelyn Marshman, W. G. Phelps, Marion Johnston, Jack Hayden, W. H. Pendexter, Joseph Speare, Will L. White, Martin Hall, Jennie Royal and Frank De Camp.

Besides the play there are several good photo-plays, the feature offering, a two-reel affair, being "The Higher Justice," a picture story of rare merit. The others include "The Girl of the Caravel," "The School Kid's Picnic," and "A Wild West Show."

The afternoon show starts at one o'clock and the first act curtain at 2 o'clock sharp. The evening at 7 o'clock, first act curtain at 8 o'clock sharp. No one seated during the first act.

MAROOINED ON ROCK

The "Sad Sea Waves" Did Not Sound Good to Leo Jameson as They Lapped His "Tootsies"

Leo Jameson of 235 Stackpole street had a very narrow escape from drowning in the Merrimack river, and according to eye witnesses of the affair, if the young man is now alive, he owes his life to Mr. S. Clement of 229 Stackpole.

Others, who managed to get him out of a rather perilous position. As much as he could be learned the Jameson boy was a prisoner on a large rock in the middle of the Merrimack river opposite Hunts' falls and the water kept rising gradually. The boy who could not swim, shouted for help and his cries of distress were heard by E. H. Gannon, special police officer, who rushed to his assistance.

The police officer, however, was unable to reach the boy, although he was assisted by E. Martin and Thomas O'Connor. Their efforts were fruitless. Mr. Clement who was somewhere on the banks of the river, saw the party struggling in the water, and quickly jumping in his boat, rowed to their assistance. The three above mentioned were reached and taken into the boat, and then the little craft was rowed to the rescue of the boy on the rock, and a few minutes later all were safely landed on the banks of the river. How the boy reached his position on the rock could not be learned. Leo Jameson is not the first one to have been rescued by Mr. Clement as the latter has done yeoman service in that line for years.

TO OPEN BIDS TODAY

Work on New $1,000,000 Boulevard From Eliot Square, Revere, to Point of Pines to Begin

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The state highway commission this morning will open bids for the $1,000,000 boulevard from Eliot Square, Revere, to beyond the Point of Pines. This year's work will cost $300,000 and will be begun on the northern portion. The new boulevard will be 60 feet wide. Thirty feet in the center will be laid out as a roadway and the other 30 feet for trolley car tracks and sidewalks.

When completed, the highway commission believes, the driveway from Boston along the North Shore to Gloucester will be unsurpassed in the United States. It is expected the roadway as far as Revere street will be completed this year.

TRIAL OF MAURY I. DIGGS RESUMED COHOLAN'S ACCUSER IS ARRESTED GARDNER OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Hundreds Tried to Get Into Court to Hear Testimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Forty-eight spectators and no more of the crowd that lined up early today had a chance to get inside United States District Judge Van Fleet's courtroom where the trial of Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, charged with violating the Mann act, was picked up where it left off last Friday. There were 48 seats in the courtroom, outside the bar and Judge Van Fleet ordered that, beginning today, no one who could not find a seat should be allowed to enter.

The order disappointed hundreds who hoped to hear the testimony of Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, who were expected to testify today.

Two new witnesses were scheduled to precede the girls—Martin Heasley, an uncle of Marsha Warrington, who was instrumental in causing the arrests in the case, and Chief of Police Hillhouse of Reno, who served the warrants.

Call McNabb in Diggs Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 12.—The government announced it would call John L. McNabb, former United States district attorney, whose resignation brought the case into national prominence as a witness. McNabb had been sitting in court, listening to the evidence.

minings with Commissioners Donnelly and Brown present. The first matter to come before the board was a hearing on the petition of C. H. Hanson & Co. Inc. for a license to keep gasoline in Rock street. There was no re-monstrant and the petition was granted.

On the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to erect a pole on Keene street, it was voted to give a hearing on Aug. 20. The same company petitioned to attach additional wires and fixtures to its pole on Meadowcroft street, on Highland street, on Beacon street and on Chelmsford street, and the petitions were referred.

M. J. Gray petitioned the council for the compensation of $15 for damage to his lunch cart, and the same was referred to the city solicitor and commissioner of public buildings and highways.

The petition of Eliza L. Maynard that edgemoes be laid in front of 15 and 17 Lawson street, was referred. James P. Ramsay et al. petitioned that a concrete sidewalk be laid on the northerly side of Troy street, and the petition was granted, as was also that of William Myers et al. for edgemoes on Benjamin street. It was also voted to grant the petition of Walter G. Charles and Omar J. Smith for sidewalks on both sides of Crawford street.

Wamsit Canal Bridge

The question of the construction of the bridge across the Wamsit canal in Lawrence street was again taken up this morning, and it was voted to authorize the mayor to enter into an agreement with the officials of the Bay State Street Railway Co. to build the same and that the city would bear one-fourth of the expenses, or not to exceed $2000. The following order was then introduced, but at the suggestion of Com. Barrett, who said he did not believe the city would have to borrow the money, action on the order was postponed until the next meeting. Order to borrow the sum of $5000 and appropriate the same for the payment of one fourth of the cost and expense of building and constructing a bridge on Lawrence street over the Wamsit canal.

Mr. Brown Opposed

Mr. Brown said he did not favor the idea of placing the comfort station under the management of the health department, because he felt the same should come under the public property department.

"It is a city property and has to be maintained by the department of public buildings," said Mr. Brown, "and I believe the ordinance should be amended to transfer the station to that department."

"Don't you believe it should come under your department?" asked Mr. Brown of Mr. Cummings. "I find in different cities different ideas," was the reply.

It was voted to postpone action until Friday's meeting.

The next question taken up was an opinion from the city solicitor relative to the demand of John P. Green, who asked to be placed on the pension roll.

Mr. Brown Again

After the reading of the opinion, Mr. Brown said Mr. Green was an employee in the street department in 1912, when he, Brown, had charge of the

TO DISTRIBUTE 64 CHILDREN

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Sixty-four children, wards of the New York Foundling hospital, left New York for the west today where they will be distributed among childless families in Colorado, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. The tots travelled in special cars, under the care of two Sisters of Charity. Each carried his bedding and a little outfit of clothing.

Man Who Brought Charges of Improper Conduct Against the Justice is Held for Perjury

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—John A. recover $200 on a note Connolly is alleged to have given. The warrant was issued on July 22, five days after Justice Coholan's vindication by the legislature. Connolly was arrested today as he was leaving his home.

Connolly gave bail and was released. He said the charges against him were groundless and "instigated by persons interested in the Coholan matter."

Comfort Station Control

August 11, 1913.

To the Municipal Council of the City of Lowell:

Gentlemen:

Some time ago, a request was presented to the city that an ordinance be enacted establishing the control of the comfort station on Page street in the city of Lowell, and designating the department which should have jurisdiction of the management of said comfort station.

Pension Question Again

After this motion had been passed, Commissioner Brown arose and took up again the Green matter. The commissioner had said but a few words when Mr. Barrett told him he was not working for the city's interest, but was playing politics.

"Nobody believes you anyway," said Commissioner Brown, "and no one will believe you especially a year from today, for you won't be here. Commissioner Cummings rapped to order, but Mr. Brown paid no attention to his command, and kept right on saying 'Since the appointment of the fire commissioner, Andrew E. Barrett, we have been hearing things in the streets, and I'm telling you these things so as to look out in the future. Only recently I heard a certain fireman had been allowed to go to Europe, and a copy of his leave of absence is not recorded, to my knowledge.'"

The Alderman Ignored

Mr. Barrett paid no attention to Mr. Brown but simply asked the chairman to continue with the business, and then an ordinance relative to the distribution of handbills and other matter of literature was read and adopted. The amendment is appended.

Several Orders Adopted

Several orders pertaining to pole locations were adopted, after which Mr. Brown again came to the charge. This time referring to certain bills for out-of-town expenses as filed in his department by Commissioner Barrett during 1912 and 1913. Relative to these bills he said: "There is one department in this building for which the expense accounts are simply sent to my office, marked 'out-of-town expenses,' and I would like to have those bills itemized. I now refer to certain bills from the commissioner of fire and water works departments, Andrew E. Barrett. This has raised unfavorable comment, for no other commissioner has sent in expense accounts as did Mr. Barrett. I have no opposition if he can prove those accounts. I believe the commissioner should submit itemized accounts as to where and when these expenses were made, and I move that Commissioner Barrett be ordered to present his expenses in an itemized form." This much as the motion was not seconded, no more was said on the question.

A contract made between the commissioner of streets and highways and the Crescent Co. for the construction of granite sidewalks in the city of Lowell for the year 1912, was approved.

The following opinions from the city solicitor having to do with the case

THE MAKINGS

Of the boy are in the man. The youth who is deprived of playing any game that he desires to indulge in will, sooner or later, seek that pastime and play with companions who, in most cases, are not of high character; through associations he will acquire their expressions and mannerisms in a short time.

Point out the youth or grown-up who would not accept an invitation to a game of pool. Pool tables can be found in many homes, clubs and association halls. However, there are some youths whose parents cannot afford a pool table for the home. Neither can they pay the fees of the boy for membership in athletic societies. These are just the boys that come here.

AND THE PAPERS

Or permit, allowing the youth to play in this pool room is signed by the parents or guardian and police inspector, presented to the proprietor who in turn verifies the signatures before accepting such permit.

Congressman Candidate for the Republican Nomination

Former Governor Guild to Support Gardner Against Col. Benton

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—While Gov. Foss was yesterday taking another step toward an announcement that he would accept a republican nomination for a fourth term, Congressman Augustus P. Gardner suddenly emerged from a brief retirement at the Hamilton home, trumpeted forth his candidacy and authorized the circulation of nomination papers.

The governor, in reply to an invitation extended by former Mayor James M. W. Hall of Cambridge to return to the republican party, brought himself to the point of admitting that he desired another term, and expressed the fear that his candidacy might be necessary to save his twin policies of reciprocity and railroad regulation.

Congressman Gardner, who stood forth as a vigorous opponent of former President Taft's proposed reciprocity pact with Canada, stated that he had decided to enter the contest after former Congressman Samuel W. McCall had declined to be a candidate for the G. O. P. nomination.

The Gardner move took the politicians generally by surprise. In the morning, republican leaders were giving it as their opinion that there was no substance to the report that Gardner would run, and Gov. Foss took time off from giving out letters from republicans who wanted him as the gubernatorial standard bearer, to chuckle and opine "the more the merrier," and "I hope everybody gets it."

In the evening the Essex county congressman was a full-fledged candidate; a carefully-selected squad, including former Gov. Curtis Guild, was scurrying for the 1000 signatures he must have between now and Saturday afternoon to get his name on the republican primary ballots, and the governor, after saying "That's all right," stopped talking for the present. Speaker Cushing joined the Gardner forces last night.

Supporters of Col. Everett C. Benton of Belmont, already in the field for the republican nomination, with far more than the necessary number of signatures, were astounded when they heard that Gardner was a candidate. After a brief breathing spell following the declinations of State Treasurer Stevens and McCall to compete against their candidate, they found another obstacle in the road. Col. Benton himself made the following statement:

"I do not believe that Mr. Gardner will be a candidate against me in the primaries. I have been given to understand that he is favorable to my candidacy." Later in the evening he changed his mind.

Some of Col. Benton's supporters were even more outspoken. They declared that Gov. Foss' desire to see a candidate in the lists against Benton was at least realized, and that the next move would be the formal entry of Gov. Foss himself.

admitting minors to the theatre. Officer Noonan said that he was hired by the two defendants to stand duty at their theatre.

The officer said that he saw both boys enter the theatre with tickets in their hands. He spoke to Orbach, who was standing at the gate, but the latter told him to mind his own business and would run the theatre. Then the officer went up to the two youngsters and ascertained their ages, which were eleven years instead of the required fourteen. He brought both boys down to the manager, Orbach, and insisted that they be put out, which was done. The boys had previously stated their ages as fourteen.

Both pleaded guilty. The court awarded a fine of $5 to Gurin with a two weeks' probation within which to pay while Moran sat off with a $5 tax. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for Moran.

John S. Cutler was charged with unlawfully using the milk can which bore another dealer's stamp and was fined $3. Louis Whipple was released on the charge of non-support when he promised to turn over $3 each week toward the support of his wife.

Frank Charles and Michael Mahoney were both fined $15 for their third appearance before the court for drunkenness. Charles P. Howard was fined $10 for his assault upon Thomas F. Mahoney at the city farm. Michael Ravine and Stanley Browsey received a fine of six dollars for being arrested twice within the year for over indulgence. There were two releases and one $5 fine.

Orbach's Defence Heard

Orbach was the first witness put on by the defence. His story was somewhat different from that told by the officer. He said that he and his partner did not get along well together and that the officer liked his partner better than he did him. "Why does he like you less than I do?" asked his partner. "Because my partner smokes and drinks with him, while I don't do any of those things," returned Orbach. "Did you ever see the officer and your partner drinking?" asked Judge Enright, as he bent forward in his chair. "No, I never see them, but I know just how they act," answered the witness. "How do you know?" further questioned the court. "Well, I know my partner likes drink," explained Orbach. "So you consider that sufficient evidence to stand up here and try to discredit an officer with his superior, do you?" asked the court in no kindly tone of voice. "Well, ain't that what he's trying to do with me?" parried the witness. "So that's the sort of man you are, is it?" concluded the court as he ordered the case to proceed.

Edith Knowlton, singer and ticket seller was the next witness. She solemnly testified that she received orders from Orbach not to admit any child under fourteen years of age. Upon cross-examination she admitted that one of the boys looked younger than fourteen although he gave his age as fourteen.

To Prove Alibi

Mrs. Fannie Hahn of New York next took the stand it being the purpose, evidently, of Attorney Fisher to show that his client Knopf had nothing to do with the theatre at the time minors were admitted. The witness testified that Knopf was at the house from the 17th until the 21st of the month and therefore could not have been in Lowell on the 15th. Her testimony went unchallenged.

Knopf was the next witness. He did not have much new evidence to produce except to say that he and his partner did not speak to each other unless it was absolutely necessary. He also testified that Orbach was the manager of the theatre. The case was called at this juncture for recess.

After hearing all the evidence Judge Enright found Samuel Orbach guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $25 and Solomon Knopf was discharged. Orbach appealed.

Ordinance Amended

The following ordinance amendment in compliance with a petition presented to the council by labor representatives some time ago was voted.

Amending section 3 of chapter 20 of the ordinances of the city of Lowell.

Be it ordained by the municipal council of the city of Lowell as follows:

That section 3 of chapter 20 of the ordinances of the city of Lowell is hereby amended by inserting at the end of said section 3 the following:

"But nothing hereinbefore mentioned shall prevent the distribution and circulation, in and upon any street or sidewalk in the city of Lowell, of handbills or circulars containing literature or educational matter, provided that permission is first obtained from the mayor."

So that said section shall read:

Section 3. No person shall cause to be distributed any handbill, circular, literature or advertising slip in or upon any street or sidewalk in the city, excepting that such handbill, circular, program or advertising slip may be placed within the doors of stores, offices, and business houses, and at the doors of residences, but nothing here-doing was not made clear but it was reported he would make an effort to gain their support.

When four of the assemblymen reached the governor's office in response to his summons, Governor Sulzer sent out word that he had changed his mind and did not want to see them. Assemblyman Sulzer refused to go to the executive chamber except upon the governor's written request.

Closed With Governor

Assemblyman Campbell, the sixth man included in the invitation, was closed with the governor and his counsel for ten minutes. When the interview ended Mr. Campbell declined to discuss it, asserting it was confidential. A fellow member said, however, that the subject of the interview was the constitutionality of the impeachment proceedings.

The governor will have absolutely nothing to say in any event till the assembly acts," said Chester C. Platt, Mr. Sulzer's private secretary. Even then, if the vote is to impeach, he will have nothing to say but will reserve his answer for the impeachment proceedings before the senate. Should the resolution to impeach be defeated, the governor will have something to say. He will give out a statement setting forth his side of the controversy in its entirety and supplementing at length his brief statement of Sunday night in which he denied point blank the charges made against him by the Frawley committee.

ORDER TO IMPEACH GOV. SULZER

WAS OFFERED BY LEADER LEVY

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The report of the Frawley legislative committee charging Governor Sulzer with having diverted campaign contributions to his own private use, was adopted by the legislature yesterday and a resolution to impeach him for "willful and corrupt conduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors" was offered in the assembly by Majority Leader Levy.

PATRIOTISM OF CATHOLIC

Archbishop Ireland Talks at Meeting

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 12.—Archbishop Ireland, before 200 dignitaries and 5000 laymen of the Catholic church, last night concluded the second day's session of the 12th annual convention of the National Federation of Catholic Societies in session here, with an address on "Americanism and Catholicism."

The vast audience sitting in the auditorium paid close attention as he spoke of the patriotism of the American Catholics and at the same time condemned those who accused the Catholics of lack of patriotism.

When the archbishop, accompanied by Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee, took their places on the stage, the audience rose and gave the dignitaries an appreciative reception. Archbishop Messmer presided and introduced the speaker.

Cardinal Gibbons was the guest of honor at several functions here yesterday, including reception at the Milwaukee Press club, the Knights of Columbus and a dinner given by ex-Judge Paul Carpenter.

FORMATION OF LEAGUE

Feature of Session of American Federation

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 12.—The formation of a national Catholic women's league and an address by T. B. Minahan of Seattle, Wash., on "The Catholic American Citizen" will be the feature of today's session of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which is holding its 12th annual convention here.

Miss Elizabeth Marshall of Milwaukee has been mentioned as the first president of the new league.

In accordance with the wishes of Archbishop Messmer at yesterday's meeting, the women, it is predicted, will bar suffrage from the sessions of the league, in the interest of harmony.

The third day's session of the convention opened with solemn requiem mass at St. Mary's church. A business meeting followed in one of the smaller halls of the auditorium at which time T. B. Minahan and the Rev. Jas. H. Cotter of Ironton, O., vice president of the Catholic Press association, spoke.

STRANGLER HERSELF

Aged Woman Dies by Peculiar Method

Tragedy visited the famous "Old Stone House" situated at the corner of Main street and Pelham road in Salem, N. H., on the Canobie Lake line, yesterday morning when its aged mistress, Mrs. Ann Stickney, committed suicide by strangling herself.

It is thought that she committed the act as the result of melancholia, having just recovered from an attack of illness.

Mrs. Lowe who has been taking care of the invalid was washing about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when Mrs. Stickney said that she thought she would go and lie down. Some time later Mrs. Lowe went to see if she was comfortable and found her dead in a chair, a rope tied to the doorknob telling the story. Apparently she had gone into the room and after sitting down on a chair had put the rope about her neck, attached it to the doorknob and pulled it, strangling herself. Medical Examiner L. G. Dearborn of Derry arrived last night and pronounced Mrs. Stickney a suicide. She was 82 years old and the motive was probably melancholia.

Mrs. Stickney was born in Salem and was well known, having lived there years ago and who has resided alone in the "Old Stone House" since that time. Her only surviving relative is a brother, Cheever Gage of Pelham.

WOMEN TO BE HEARD

Will Urge Committee to Grant Suffrage

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Anticipating a large attendance on the informal hearing to be given by the house rules committee to the delegates to the National Council of Women Voters on Thursday, larger numbers today are expected to appear in which to hold the meeting. The women will urge the committee to report favorably on the proposal for an amendment to the constitution granting universal suffrage in the United States.

Among the speakers at the conference will be Miss Anna Addams, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Representative Raker and Representative Keating.

PACIFIC MILLS

At Lawrence Said to be Planning Big Extension—Will Weave Cloth for Print Works

LAWRENCE, Aug. 12.—Although no official confirmation could be obtained today it is understood that the Pacific mills are making arrangements for an extension of the plant, and that work of excavating may begin in the fall.

It is understood that the company plans to build a extension to the present mill buildings along the north bank of the Merrimack river, by building 60 feet out into the river, the addition to extend from the railroad bridge on Broadway easterly about 1100 feet.

No definite plans regarding the recently acquired Atlantic mill property, have yet been announced by the Pacific mills, but it is probable that the Atlantic mill buildings will be renovated or torn down and a new structure erected in their stead.

The uncertainty of the central bridge project, insofar as it affects the land seizure of the 50-foot strip of Atlantic mill property, is delaying the decision of the directors as far as this property is concerned.

When the mill re-opens after the annual two weeks' vacation it is planned to have all the printing done in the new plant and it is expected that the old print works will be torn down.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

Local Greeks Celebrate Balkan Peace Treaty

The sons of Athens who make their home in this city, celebrated the ending of the Balkan war last night by a parade and a mass meeting at the church in Jefferson street, where stirring addresses were delivered by Lowell and out-of-town orators.

The Greeks were so pleased with the sudden ending of hostilities, and also with the result of the split, by which the war was greatly enlarged by territory, that a celebration was planned for last night. Shortly after 7 o'clock the entire colony of men, headed by the Sixth Regiment brass band, paraded through the principal streets of the district, and the parade ended at the church, where a religious service was held.

Rev. Fr. Papanopoulos, pastor, assisted by Rev. Fr. Proseanos of Boston, officiated. Hymns were sung by the entire congregation and prayers were offered for the safety of the four patriarchs of the church, for the king and queen and for the queen mother; for the sailors and soldiers of the nation and for the prosperity of all the people.

At the close of the religious service a stirring address on patriotism was given by Hon. Constantine Papanicolaopoulos of Boston, who reviewed the important incidents of the war. At the conclusion of his address the band struck up the Greek national anthem.

Dr. John B. Gasponopoulos addressed the gathering from the steps of the church. The men then formed in parade and with hundreds of pieces of red fire, paraded through the principal streets of the colony.

SUSPECT SMUGGLING PLOT

Chinaman Caught Yesterday Believed to Have Been Brought in by Connivance of Cymric Crew

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The capture at the Hoosac Tunnel docks yesterday morning of a Chinaman who is thought to have been smuggled in on the liner Cymric from Liverpool, leads the local authorities to believe that they are on the trail of a well-developed plot for the smuggling of Chinamen into the United States.

While on duty at the docks yesterday morning Customs Guard W. J. Klahaus noticed two white men and a Chinaman sneaking away from the pier. He pursued them and, with the assistance of James Fitzgerald, succeeded in capturing the Chinaman. In the Chinaman's pocket was found a letter addressed to Low Lee at a Liverpool address. He was turned over to the immigration authorities and taken to the detention station at Long wharf, where he will be given a hearing before the board of special inquiry.

The supposition is that the Chinaman was smuggled in with the connivance of one of the crew of the Cymric. The Liverpool address is thought to be the headquarters of a regular Chinese smuggling gang.

BECKER CALLS LAWYER

May Sign Affidavit About "Graft"

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Another effort, it was said yesterday, will be made by Chas. Platt to obtain a confession from ex-Police Lieut. Becker, who is now in the death house at Sing Sing, relative to the distribution of "graft" money.

Becker collected Becker on Saturday refused to see Platt until he should have conferred with his counsel.

Joseph A. Shay, Becker's lawyer, it is said, will visit his client this week, and they will go over the advantages to be gained by Becker's making an affidavit corroborating the statement Platt made to the district attorney, in which Platt declared that high police officials and a civilian employee of the department obtained the most benefits from the large sums of "graft" that Becker collected.

DETECTIVES ATTACKED

Got Into Wrong Flat in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Five men who said later that they were seeking "evidence" nearly wrecked the apartment of E. Deapress, an art editor, early today, while they were thinking they were burglars, stoutly defended himself and wife with an old bayonet. He wielded the weapon with such telling effect that two of the evidence-seekers had to be patched up by ambulance surgeons. When made prisoners the men explained that they were detectives and had got into the wrong flat.

Rep. Glass Makes Speech

—Open Caucus Denied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A vigorous defense of the administration currency bill by Representative Carter Glass, one of its authors, was received with general applause and support in the first session yesterday of the caucus of democratic members of the house before which the measure is to be worked over and its fate determined.

Representative Glass' speech followed an unsuccessful attempt by the "insurgent" democrats of the banking and currency committee to have the caucus thrown open to the public. Led by Representative Neely of Kansas and Hagadale of South Carolina, members of the committee; Representative Henry of Texas and others, the advocates of open caucuses mustered 63 votes, against 119.

The currency bill was laid before the caucus by Representative Glass as chairman of the committee with the endorsement of 13 democratic members. Representatives Neely and Hagadale and Representative Bagley of Texas withheld their approval.
